BERKELEY HIGH PUPILS FACE JAIL

Steps to Frustrate Spread of Diphtheria Are Halted By Students' Refusal to Stand Tests, Says Health Board

Arrest May Result of Those Pupils and Their Parents Who Disobey Provisions of Penal Code, Is Threat Made

BERKELEY, Sept. 21.—Arrest of seven of the fourteen Berkeley high school students who refused to obey the order of the Board of Health to submit to having "cultures" taken to determine whether they are diphtheria carriers or remain from classroom, together with their parents, is momentarily expected.

These students offered defiance to authority this morning when they returned to school. Early this afternoon Dr. Ernest R. Rape, health officer, went into conference with Miss Frances Wilson, deputy district attorney, regarding the issuance of the warrants to which he will swear should the decision be reached that the action is a proper one.

AGE MAY PREVENT ARREST OF STUDENTS

Section 377A of the Penal Code providing that "any person, who, after notice, shall violate, or who on demand of public health officers shall refuse or neglect to conform with any rules regulation or provision of the State Board of Health respecting quarantine, and disinfection, of persons, animals, things or places, shall be guilty of misdemeanor," will probably afford the basis for the action.

the district attorney's office this afternoon was whether the students—all of whom are under age could be arrested. It is for that reason that it was believed warrants would be issued for both parents and students.

RETURN TO CLASS AGAINST ORDERS.

Those who returned to class against the order of the health authorities were: Homer and Ethel Allen, 2317 Prospect avenue; Vera Mott, 2201 Channing way; Marjorie Swartsel 873 Arlington avenue; Dorothy Norton, 2029 Virginia street; Delpha Stevens, 2254 Fulton street; and Angelique Hinckley, 1418 Spruce street. Virginia Carrish, 2536 Fulton street, one of the original fourteen students refusing to submit to examination, today volunteered to obey the order. The six remaining students under question remained away from the high school.

In a conference this morning between Dr. Pape and Secretary of the State Board of Health Kellogg, the Berkeley health officer was urged to action. Dr. Pape and Patrolman Frank Waterbury this morning reread to the student body the orders the defiance of which has plunged the authorities into a maze of law.

INSTRUCTED CHILDREN TO RETURN TO SCHOOL

"I instructed my children to return to school today," declared Mrs. A. H. Allen, who with other parents was present during the repetition of the health orders.

"I will not remove them from their classes. The high school is not under quarantine, nor has it been. I will contest the action of the board of health in the interests of humanity."

Deschanel's Letter Of Resignation Read

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

PARIS, Sept. 21.—President Paul Deschanel's letter of resignation was read to the Senate and Chamber of Deputies today. It was short and stated that ill health had caused the executive's retirement. The regrets of the nation were expressed by Premier Millerand, Speaker Peret of the chamber and President Leon Bourgeois of the Senate.

M. Peret read the clauses of the constitution which provide for the election of a new president. It is generally agreed that Premier Millerand will succeed M. Deschanel.

Former President Briand may succeed Premier Millerand.

He was John W. Fowler (colored), candidate for the assembly from Alameda county.

Shipyard Strike Assault Trial Begun in Court

George Kazaka Faces Judge On Charge of Attacking Workman, August 28

Charged with assault with a deadly weapon on a shipyard worker during the recent strike and accused by the police and the district attorney's office of being a "wrecker" and "strong arm" artist, George Kazaka appeared before Judge James G. Quinn today for trial.

Kazaka is accused of assaulting James Rumer on May 5 and G. W. Ritchard on April 28. He will be tried on each charge separately.

It is alleged in the complaint that Kazaka and another man, about 5:30 p. m. on May 5 at Eighteenth and Grove streets, walked up behind Rumer and closed in on him, one on each side.

"Here's another damned shipyard worker," Kazaka is alleged to have exclaimed, adding force to his words by hitting Rumer in the jaw with a blackjack and knocking him down.

After pounding Rumer's body with a piece of gas pipe, it is alleged, they turned fled, but were held up by a deputy sheriff, who covered Kazaka and placed him under arrest. The other man, who was joined by a third, escaped.

"I hit Rumer with a blackjack because he was scabbing and taking bread from the mouths of my wife and children," Kazaka is accused of saying at the time of his arrest. His bail was fixed at $5000 when he was held to answer in the police court.

The assault on Ritchard was committed in East Fourteenth street, between Seventeenth and Eighteenth avenues.

One Killed, Several Wounded in Stockyard Race Riot; Police on Guard

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Heavy details of police are on guard in the stockyards district of the south side today to maintain order following a race riot last night in which one man was killed and several wounded.

Three negroes, accused of the murder of Thomas E. Barrett, are under arrest today, while several others are held on suspicion of participating in the riots. The negroes charged with murder were captured after a mob of 5000 persons had driven them to take refuge in St. Gabriels church. The coolness of Father Thomas Burke, pastor of the church, who held back the mob while police spirited away the negroes, is believed to have averted a lynching that probably would have resulted in a prolonged and serious rioting.

Throughout the night sporadic outbreaks in the stockyards district kept the police busy. Fist fights were numerous, one house was stormed and the windows broken and other disturbances were reported. The police established "dead lines" and kept the entire district under close guard, breaking up all crowds that attempted to congregate.

One white man was shot in the back during the mobbing of a negro and a negro was pulled from a car and beaten with clubs.

Chief of Police Garrity said today that the precautionary measure taken by the police had effectively prevented general rioting and that there was little danger of further outbreaks, although the police would continue to maintain guards throughout the district.

JOHNSON IN SPEECH GIVES HARDING O. K.

Californian Says Nominee Has Scrapped League; G. O. P. Victory Assured, He Tells Hearers at State Meeting

Bitter Arraignment of Whole Wilson Administration Is Main Feature of Address; Four Parties in Convention

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 21.—Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California in his first speech in behalf of the Republican national ticket endorsed the attitude of Senator Warren G. Harding, nominee for the presidency on the League of Nations, here today.

"Mr. Harding, happily for himself and for America, has scrapped the league," Senator Johnson said. Senator Johnson had been one of the most bitter and unbending foes of the league in the Senate.

The speech, first of several Senator Johnson is scheduled to make in California in the national campaign, was made to the Republican State Convention at its opening session. It began with congratulations "upon the outlook for Republican success" and an attack upon the present Democratic administration.

Senator Johnson said:

"I congratulate you upon the outlook for Republican success. So widespread is the dissatisfaction with the present administration, so great the hostility to many of the acts of the President, and so acute the justifiable fear of the metamorphosis of our foreign policy, that apparently nothing can prevent overwhelming Republican success in the November election.

WILSON ARRAIGNED FOR ACTS OF SUPPRESSION

"The indictment brought against Mr. Wilson's government is severe but warranted by the facts. For the first time in our lives the Democratic administration taught us what repression and suppression [illegible] This administration not only curtailed the constitutional privilege of citizens at home, but endeavored to drive us into perilous paths abroad. Free speech has been threatened, not in the interest of patriotism, but for existing power. A free press has been endangered.

"A rigid censorship diluted the news, and facts to which all were entitled were forbidden publication, while government propaganda colored and often distorted, the information permitted to come to the people. These assaults insensibly bred intolerance, the ancient foe of freedom. The necessary restrictions of wartime have been inexcusably prolonged in peace, and our government has strayed far from those fundamental principles upon which, for more than a century and a quarter, the Republican has so securely rested.

LEAGUE WOULD BIND US TO WAR, JOHNSON SAYS

"Not only have these things transpired domestically, but while our intellects were numbed, with the anguish of war, and free expression was controlled, the present Democratic administration sought to revolutionize the time-honored foreign policy of the nation, and to make us a part of every distant quarrel and controversy and of every mad militaristic adventure. Under the specious guise of a League of Nations to promote peace and prevent war, we were to be inextricably bound hereafter to every future world war.

"When first, in soft and honeyed phrases, the subject was broached, we had become so accustomed to ready assent to every word and act of autocratic power that our people enthusiastically acclaimed the league without knowledge of its detail or understanding of its injurious possibilities. The long and arduous debate in the Senate finally illumined the subject. And what was originally accepted as humanity's greatest boon was finally seen as the most perilous project which had ever been attempted in the republic. The League of Nations not alone will irrevocably change our foreign policy and involve us in the quarrels and controversies in which we have no concern and from which we have held aloof, but will also seriously affect us in our domestic relations.

PRESIDENT DESIRED LEAGUE ISSUE, HE SAYS

"It becomes, therefore, as both candidates assert, and as the President himself has desired, the dominant issue in this campaign. Men like ourselves who have fought the good fight for the last year and a half enthusiastically welcome this issue and in the election in November we will repudiate, beyond redemption, the Wilson league which has been presented to us, and reaffirm again the time-honored policies of Washington, Jefferson, Monroe and the whole galaxy of American immortals.

"Upon the League of Nations the issue is clean cut. There are some gentlemen who seek by a shifty construction of words to obscure it. I do not object to these gentlemen and their newspaper protagonists saving their faces so long as they do not save their league. But the language of the two candidates is plain and unambiguous. The one says he will go into the league, and I am proud to say that our candidate says that he will stay out of the league. Every normal man desires to promote peace and prevent war. Every private citizen and every individual in official position will do their utmost in the endeavor to promote peace and prevent war.

HARDING SCRAPS LEAGUE, HE ASSERTS

"It is possible that this may be done in one way or another in the

Mother, Struck by Auto, Saves Baby by Toss to Fender

Cool-headed in the face of peril, Mrs. Charles Flood of 111 Virginia street, saved the life of her baby this afternoon, when a truck ran her down at San Pablo avenue and Twentieth street and seriously injured her. Almost at the moment of the impact, Mrs. Flood leaned forward toward the machine, tossed her child upon its broad fender, then went to the street under its heavy wheel.

The baby was unhurt. As soon as J. Corran, 716 Thirtieth street, who drove the truck, could bring it to a stop, bystanders seized the infant from the fender only to have it smile cheerfully into their faces. Mrs. Flood suffered numerous contusions of the body and limbs and possible internal injuries.

Flood was with his wife and child at the moment of the accident, but was not injured. Corran is driver for a local furniture house.

Ford Leads in Price Slash to Halt War Greed

Pre-War Basis Adopted, Making 14 to 31 Percent Cut On All Products

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

DETROIT, Sept. 21.—Re-establishment of pre-war prices on all products of Ford Motor company, effective immediately was announced today by Henry Ford. The price reductions range from approximately 14 per cent on motor trucks to 31 per cent on small automobiles.

Ford in a statement said:

"Now is a time to call a halt on war methods, war prices, war profiteering and war greed. It may be necessary for everybody to stand a little sacrifice, but it will be most profitable after all, because inflated prices always retard progress."

The announcement said the price reductions were made despite unfilled orders for 146,065 vehicles.

There will be no reduction in wages at any of the Ford plants, it was announced.

Major D. O. Lively Sued for Divorce

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—Suit for divorce was filed here today against D. O. Lively, one of the best-known stock raisers of the country, by Edna S. Lively. Mrs. Lively alleges desertion and cruelty. The indictment resulted from the killing of Robert W. Hedderly, alleged bootlegger, the night of September 10.

Turks, Senegalese Behead Foe to Be Sure He's Dead

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 20.—(By the Associated Press).—Turkish nationalist forces in Southern Asia Minor are continuing their fight against French troops of occupation there. Ten thousand Turks and Arabs and besieging Adena and others are daily shelling Tarsus with old five-inch guns operated by German officers who have been stranded there since the armistice. Frequent attacks are being made on Mersina, an important seaport southwest of Adena, but they have been repulsed by fire from French battleships in the harbor.

Americans in Adena have limited food supplies, but distribute what they can to 2000 persons daily.

They have so far failed to secure shipments from Mersina.

Hand-to-hand fighting frequently occurs at Adena, the French Senegalese and also the Turks and Arabs cutting off the heads of the fallen to be sure they are dead.

The French have succeeded in getting supplies into Tarsus from Mersina and are preparing for a winter's siege.

DUBLIN, Sept. 21.—Auxiliary police forces last night wrecked the town of Balbriggan, near here in retaliation for the shooting of two police officers there earlier in the evening, when District Inspector Burke was killed and his brother, Sergeant Burke, was seriously wounded.

Two civilians were shot dead and several persons wounded. Many houses were set afire and the largest hosiery factory in Ireland, owned by an English firm, was destroyed.

This morning streams of refugees were abandoning the town.

MacSWINEY REPORTED EXCEEDINGLY WEAK

BY UNITED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The fortieth day of fasting of Lord Mayor MacSwiney began today with little change in his condition. Sinn Fein bulletins again reported him exceedingly weak.

Sinn Fein leaders were indignant at reports they had hidden the real condition of the hunger striker. The London Evening News said MacSwiney was surprisingly well, but sulky and disinclined to answer questions. The News said the lord mayor was able to sit up and to assist in his ablutions and read the newspapers interestedly.

Rumors of secret feeding were revived as foes and supporters alike marveled at MacSwiney's condition. Friends hotly declared water and a medicine to prevent stomach pains were [illegible]

Berkeley Will Vote Upon City Manager Plan

Special Election Nov. 13th Provided in Measure Council Adopts

BERKELEY, Sept. 21.—A reorganization of city government under a city manager plan will be submitted at the special election called for November 13, when the public utilities district will be voted upon, according to a resolution adopted by the City Council this morning. Action was taken after a petition signed by 21 prominent citizens, urging the adoption of such a course was presented.

The plan proposed in Berkeley differs from that in effect in Richmond and Alameda in that the mayor will retain his present duties, with all administrative affairs passing over into the hands of the city manager. It is based on the Dayton (Ohio) scheme. The annual salary of this official is not to exceed $10,000.

The offices of mayor and auditors with four-year terms, six councilmen, serving six years and five school directors are provided for. The salary of these officials will be $10 per meeting.

Among those who signed the petition were: Professor Thomas H. Reed, former city manager of San Jose, Frank H. Thatcher, president of the Chamber of Commerce; G. L. Snyder, Professor J. W. Gregg, president of the Park Commission; Perry Tompkins, N. H. Henderson, Marsha Steel, A. B. Howe, Oscar Barber, H. S. Howard, J. R. Driver, E. F. Leuneck.

$16,000 BET ON HARDING 4 TO 1 IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—At odds of 4 to 1 $16,000 was wagered today that Senator Harding would be the next President of the United States. This amount represented the "long" end of one bet, according to the brokerage house in Wall street when is holding the money.

The same firm says it has a flood of Harding money to bet at the same odds, but that all the Cox money thus far offered would not exceed $5000, and comes mostly from curb brokers, who want 6 to 1.

These odds are the longest ever recorded in any presidential election at this early stage.

Hurricane Warning Given Gulf Coast

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Childhood Friend of Movie Star Ends Her Life By Taking Poison

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The tragic influence of Olive Thomas' death in Paris provided the motive for the suicide of Miss Anna Daly, who took poison at the Hotel Seville on Saturday night, the police declared today after an investigation. Miss Daly and Miss Thomas had been friends from childhood. Both were born at McKees Rock, near Pittsburg, and spent their girlhood there. They attended the same school and worked in the same store. Miss Daly is the second woman friend of Olive Thomas to take her life since the noted film actress died in Paris. Both took poison.

WITHDRAWAL OF CRUDE OIL HITS NEW HIGH MARK

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 21.—The withdrawal from storage in California of 962,526 barrels of crude oil during August was announced today by the Independent Oil Producers' Agency of Los Angeles. This amount was greater by 40,278 barrels than the July withdrawals. The amount of crude oil in storage September 1, was 20,863,817, according to these statistics.

During August, 8,935,449 barrels were produced in the state, an increase of 473,602 barrels over the July production, the announcement continued. The August production averaged 289,853 barrels daily, an increase of 15,277 barrels over the July daily production.

Alleged Bunko Men Evade Court Trial

Arthur Pira, Dominico Burdonia, David Pairot, Mattea Chierott and Otis Forne, alleged Italian bunco men, who were arrested by the Oakland police on September 4, charged with vagrancy, failed to appear in court this morning when their names were called. They were out on $500 bail each.

Owing to the misdemeanor charge against them, Police Judge Mortimer Smith said he could not order their bail forfeited but raised their bonds to $5000 each and issued bench warrants for their appearance in court.

At the time of their arrest the men had in their possession gambling paraphernalia which caused the police to believe them to be bunco men who have been operating in the Eastbay district for several months. Owing to the lack of direct evidence it was necessary to charge them with vagrancy.

Bonestell, Havens in Hospital, Recovering

In Merritt hospital, in rooms not widely separated today, lay Walter Havens and his friend John Bonestell, both recovering from appendicitis operations.

Havens was operated on only Monday. Bonestell Saturday. The condition of both today was reported satisfactory.

It was the illness of Havens, a student at the University of Nevada at Reno, that took his mother, Mrs. Wickham Havens, in a fast automobile provided by Cliff Durant, to Reno in a night drive of eight hours. Havens was then feared to be dying, but recovered sufficiently to be brought here, and is now considered out of danger.

Bonestell is the son of Horatio Bonestell of the Hotel Oakland.

Detectives Balked in Hunt for Criminals Who Blew Up Wall Street, Killed 35 and Maimed Scores of Innocents

By FRANK CHARLTON.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Thousands of persons gathered in lower Broadway this afternoon and excitedly awaited the threatened blowing up of the customs house, warning of which had been received yesterday by Collector of Internal Revenue William H. Edwards.

According to the warning postcard received by Mr. Edwards and signed "A Citizen," an attempt to wreck the customs house with an infernal machine, such as was used in Wall street, was to be made at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The hour of 2 o'clock came and went without any bomb explosion or any attempt to blow up the government building. A number of persons still lingered in the streets, but 2 o'clock passed and Broadway remained tranquil, save for flowing traffic. The guards continued on duty, however.

SCARY, PANICKY CROWD WAITS FOR BOMB TO GO

United States sailors with rifles and fixed bayonets patroled all the streets about the customs house and kept the immense throng moving.

It was a scary, panicky crowd and even the muffled exhaust of an automobile caused men to jump nervously.

Shortly after noon men and women began to seek vantage points. They did not venture into close proximity of the customs house but kept a considerable distance away. There is a little park just north of the customs house and it was full of people. Heads were poked from nearby office buildings. The home of the Standard Oil Company is nearby at 26 Broadway.

Just before 1:30 an aviator dropped down from the clouds and circled over the great crowd, giving a thrill to the masses of people in the streets.

THRONG SCENTS ATTACK FROM BOMBING PLANE

Fear of a possible attack on the customs house from the air led to a scattering of the crowd at some points, while others strained their eyes and craned their necks to see what the airman was going to do. It was estimated that the crowd had grown to several thousand people by this time.

There was a heavy detail of police on duty about the customs house while secret service agents thronged the building and mingled with the people in the streets.

There was an air of suppressed excitement within the building. The clerks on duty found it more and more difficult to concentrate on routine duties as the "zero hour" drew near. Collector Edwards, genially known to his intimate friends as "Big Bill," was at his desk affable, smiling and indifferent to the tension all about him.

Discussions of the Wall street bomb blast and the mystery which has enshrouded that as well as the possibility of further outrages of the same kind, were on all men's lips. The whole incident furnished lower Manhattan with a fine thrill.

BLAST MAY BE ADDED TO LIST OF UNSOLVED CRIMES

With the prospect that the Wall street blast may be added to the nation's list of great unsolved crime mysteries, federal, county and municipal detectives today settled down to a long systematic hunt for the bomb maker or makers and commenced to eliminate clews and theories that have so far yielded no result.

One hundred and twenty hours have elapsed since the explosion in front of J. P. Morgan & Co., but not an arrest has been made.

The grand jury investigation, which began yesterday, has produced no evidence which would materially aid the investigators in solving the mystery. If the witnesses who were summoned to testify today are unable to give any valuable evidence, it is likely that the grand jury will turn to other matters tomorrow. Detectives were not hopeful that the discovery of 350 pounds of smokeless powder on an old houseboat off Blum Island, in Jamaica Bay, could be linked up with the Wall street outrage. A quantity of T. N. T. was removed from the same boat several months before the explosion occurred. The houseboat had been abandoned long ago. No one knows the owner. One theory was that the craft belonged to a German sympathizer or German plotter during the war and that the explosives had been secreted for attempts upon American munitions factories. Another theory was that the boat originally had contained a lawful consignment of explosives but had broken away from its moorings and drifted into Jamaica Bay.

William Peterson, 29, of Bogota, N. J., died last night as a result of injuries received in the explosion. He was the thirty-fifth victim.

G.O.P. KEYNOTE SPEECH IS MADE BY SHORTRIDGE

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 21.—Samuel M. Shortridge, Republican candidate for the United States Senate, sounded the keynote of the California Republican campaign today before the biennial Republican state convention here.

"Let us write upon the banner of the Republican party, 'America first' and 'protection for California,'" he said. "Carrying such a banner so inscribed, we go forth to certain victory in November, a victory which will mean the political and industrial independence of America and protection and prosperity for all the people of state and Union."

Shortridge declared that the Republican party in California stands for a present stopping and shutting off of Asiatic immigration, including Japanese, into California or into any other state of the Union.

"My views can be expressed in a few words," he said, "the Japanese must not come. We do not covet their land and we are unalterably determined that they shall not possess ours. We stand first and always for America. And first and always we would protect America from dangers from without, and against all dangers from within."

Principles underlying the Republican campaign in California were outlined by Shortridge as follows.

"To do away with autocracy in America;" "reverence the Constitution to perpetuate the United States free and independent;" "Nationalists not internationalists;" "Unalterably against Wilson," "Uncompromisingly opposed to the Underwood free trade tariff law;" "Favoring an American protective tariff," and "Determination to stop immigration of unassimable peoples."

"To the charge that I am a reactionary, I answer.

"Is a reactionary one who believes in a Republican form of government?"

"Is a reactionary one who believes in the Constitution of the United States?

"Is a reactionary one who believes in the great American doctrine of a protective tariff framed on accurate and authoritative information and with due regard to the varied and inter-dependent industries of the nation?"

"Is a reactionary one who believes in development, not squandering the great natural resources of state and nation?"

Johnson Praises Harding In Speech at Sacramento

future, without involving us in entanglements or in imperialistic policies or European or Asiatic schemes of aggression or ambition. That we will strive to find a way to prevent war goes without saying. But the present issue is the League of Nations. This has been the issue since the return of Mr. Wilson from Europe. During all the bitter, vindictive months this has been the fight. It finally culminates now in solemn referendum to the people. Mr. Cox says if he is successful he will go in—but Gov. Harding says he will stay out. Mr. Harding, happily for himself and for America, has scrapped the league. On August 28 he said:

"We know now that the league constituted at Versailles is utterly impotent as a preventative of wars. It is so obviously impotent that it has not even been tried. It could not survive a single test. The original league mistakenly conceived and unreasonably insisted upon has undoubtedly passed beyond the possibility of restoration. . . . It rested upon the power of might, not of right.'

"And in this Mr. Harding is eternally right.

"On Saturday last Senator Harding again stated the issue:

"'The constitution or the covenant, that is the paramount issue. The two are irreconcilable. We cannot be governed from both Geneva and Washington. We cannot follow our present chief magistrate without forsaking the father of our country.'

"Here is an issue, my friends, which arouses not only our greatest enthusiasm, but our loftiest patriotism, and which can carry us to the highest pitch of endeavor. It is European and Asiatic imperialism and cynical diplomacy on the one hand, and our time-honored policy upon the other. We neither hazard nor forget nor lose our progressivism and our independence upon such an issue, but rather safeguard and protect them in safeguarding and protecting our country. It is nonsense for our opponents to chide us with aloofness and selfish isolation in remaining as we have been. We never have been and never will be isolated from the rest of the world. We will ever play our proud part generously and unselfishly, but we will play it in our own way, in our own time, with independence untouched, our sovereignty unimpaired, our freedom of action unfettered. We will play it as sovereign Americans, not as subject League of Nation men. The issue is—under which flag? The Republican party marches to victory in this campaign under the banner of Americanism."

Republicans, Democrats, Socialists, Prohibitionists and one Progressive met here to make pronouncements of party policy, name presidential electors and choose state central committeemen.

Just before the Republican convention opened it appeared Congressman J. A. Elston of Berkeley was without serious opposition for chairman. Samuel Shortridge of San Francisco, nominee for United States senator, the keynote speech and the opening address was delivered by Governor William D. Stephens.

The death last night in an automobile accident of Lorin Hanuley of Los Angeles left two delegates in the field for chairman of the Democratic convention. Sidney van Wyck, state committeeman from San Francisco, announced he would be a candidate, and State Senator W. D. Shearer of Yreka was said to have the backing of the Theodore Bell wing of the party.

Van Wyck also announced he would be a candidate for chairman of the Democratic state central committee, a place now filled by D. C. Ewing of Fresno. Mrs. Elvina Beals, Berkeley, Socialist, had no opposition for chairman of the Socialist convention and choice for prohibition chairman was announced as Congressman C. H. Randall of Los Angeles.

In each convention, except the Socialist, a delegate was ready to offer a resolution approving the Harris prohibition enforcement act, which comes before the voters in November as a reform measure and in the Democratic and Republican convention resolutions in favor of the measure to alter the initiative law in matters affecting taxation were ready for introduction.

Senator James D. Phelan, who did not attend the Democratic convention, had prepared a resolution endorsing legislation to restrict Oriental immigration.

The Socialists at an informal convention had approved a resolution condemning action by the United States government that would aid the Poles in their war against soviet Russia and this measure was ready for approval at the regular convention today.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 21.—The need of a California candidate for the United States Senate known to be "dry" in his principles was urged at the prohibitionist state convention here today by Henry C. Needham of Los Angeles, state chairman of the party.

"A great many people believe that now the eighteenth amendment has been adopted there is no need for further continuance of the prohibition party," he said. "But inasmuch as the two dominant parties have failed to pledge themselves to uphold and maintain that amendment, and in our own state in particular are Republican and Democratic candidates for United States Senate known to be 'wet' in their principles, it remains for the prohibition party alone, by the nomination of a candidate known to be 'dry,' to give the voters of the state a chance to enter their protest by electing a man to represent their principles to the United States Senate."

ADDRESS BY COX DECLARED PLEA OF POLITICIAN

The Republican campaign has been opened in California with enthusiasm, according to Joseph R. Knowland, who was the principal speaker yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the Alameda County Women's Republican Club in Pythian Castle. Knowland analyzed the speech made by Governor James Cox, Democratic nominee for the presidency of the United States, delivered last Saturday night in the Municipal Auditorium.

"The speech of Cox was a success as a politician's plea" declared Knowland, "but it was not comparable in statesmanship with that delivered by President Wilson at the same place some months ago.

"Governor Cox speaks highly of Senator Johnson now," continued the speaker, "but were Johnson the standard-bearer of the Republican party he would probably not speak so kindly."

LOGICAL CANDIDATE

The speaker discussed the Chicago convention, declaring that following a deadlock Harding became the logical candidate for the reason that he had aroused few antagonisms in his pre-convention campaign. "No doubt Harding had the support of many of his colleagues in the Senate and to admit, for sake of argument, that these men aided in the selection of the candidate does not reflect upon the standard-bearer," he said.

"To be nominated by the so-called senatorial oligarchy is more greatly to be desired than to be nominated by a New York delegation controlled by Tammany Hall, a New Jersey delegation backed by certain well-known interests and by the bosses from Indiana," Knowland answered Cox's charges. "The Democratic leader has never offered denial to such an arrangement.

"Every Senator in the United States Senate has been named by the people, but the national bosses were not chosen by the people in their respective states.

"Governor Cox omitted to relate that after he had been elected chief of Ohio, Senator Harding was elected to the Senate with a large Republican majority.

TALK OF POLITICIAN

"It is purely the talk of a politician and not the speech of a real statesman when Governor Cox Saturday night declared that he would leave the disposal of the Japanese question to any one state. It is an international question, as Theodore Roosevelt and President Wilson well knew."

In the matter of granting suffrage to women Knowland declared that 29 of the 37 states which ratified the amendment were Republican.

That Alameda county four years ago placed California in the Democratic ranks was the declaration of J. C. Holland, campaign manager for this county. He urged an active campaign throughout the entire section on the precinct plan.

Republican headquarters will be established at 411 Thirteenth street within a few days. Mrs. A. W. Swent was yesterday elected treasurer of the club, with the name of Mrs. R. C. Young added to the list of vice-presidents. Mrs. B. C. Eddy, president, presided.

Cox Was Heckled by Plant, Declare G. O. P. Managers

Was the "heckler" at the Saturday night Cox meeting in the auditorium a "plant" or a real seeker after information? Local Republicans had their suspicions Saturday night, but when it developed that the same questions were propounded by alleged "hecklers" in San Francisco and Oakland the cat was out of the bag.

In Oakland, after Cox had dramatically answered the "Irish American," he declared, "Then you shall have my vote." In both cities the Democratic nominee would stop, point his finger at the "heckler" and say, "I'll answer you, my man. This is a free country and I believe in free speech. Cries of "Put him out!" etc., would be silenced by the governor with a wave of his hand. Then he would go on with his Irish statement.

Well, the Republicans found out that the "heckler" was the same man in both meetings, that he interrupted Cox at the same place in both speeches, that he is a well-known San Francisco Democrat, and they strongly suspect him as a plant. Furthermore, they learned that the same tactics are being employed in other cities. Some man at the proper time shouts: "How about Ireland, Governor?"

It's not a new trick, but Republican leaders were frank in saying yesterday that it was an effective one. They took off their hats to Governor Cox.

COX BECOMES ACTOR IN MOVIE AT HOLLYWOOD

By HERBERT W. WALKER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 21.—Governor James M. Cox here today became "skipper" of the "ship of state," but it was a movie ship, sailing on an artificial lake.

The ship was constructed for Cox as a special feature of his first venture behind the scenes of Filmland. While the Democratic candidate guided it through the lake about fifty film stars lined the rails. As he stepped on the gang plank a big American flag was unfurled from the masthead and a dozen bathing beauties dived into the water as living buoys to mark the ship's course. Cameras were all around grinding out the unique reception.

After being welcomed by the stars, Cox was shown how the "movies" are made. A "set" was enacted for him with Bessie Love as the star.

Among the leading lights of filmland who welcomed the Democratic candidate to their workshops were Pauline Fredericks, Charles Ray, Katherine MacDonald, Marshall Neilan, Dorothy Phillips, Allan Holubar and scores of others.

UNION MEN JOIN G.O.P. CAMPAIGN FOR LABOR VOTE

By GEORGE R. HOLMES,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

MARION, Ohio, Sept. 21.—The Republican campaign directors are "boring from within" to win the labor vote of the country and to offset as far as possible the effect of Samuel Gompers' appeal to labor to support the Cox-Roosevelt ticket in November.

In the last two weeks there has been a stream of labor leaders through Harding headquarters here, all of whom have assured Senator Harding that neither President Gompers nor any other A. F. of L. official can "deliver" the labor vote to Governor Cox.

UNION CHIEFS AID

Fighting fire with fire, the Republicans have lined up a number of labor representatives—all members of the A. F. of L.—to spread the gospel of Republicanism through labor ranks.

John I. Nolan and P. H. McCarthy, both prominently identified with the labor movement on the Pacific Coast, assured Senator Harding a few days ago that Pacific Coast labor will go preponderantly for him in November.

Today Senator Harding had a conference with W. J. James, national representative of the Illinois miners, and James also told the candidate that Gompers could not swing labor into the Democratic fold.

GOMPERS FAILS

"Gompers' effort will fail, just as it has always failed," said James in a statement after the conference. "In the last few months I have been in the East, Illinois, Montana and in Colorado, and I have found that miners who are Republicans are staying that way and that miners who are Democrats will support Cox."

Due to a mixup in the arrangement Senator Harding had a free day today and planned to spend most of it working on the speeches which he will deliver at Baltimore, Wheeling and Ashland, Ky., next week.

French Mayor Lauds Sinn Fein, Rebuked

PARIS, Sept. 21.—The Irish Sinn Fein republic has been "recognized" by the mayor of Versailles but the recognizer is in danger of losing his job.

It happened in the course of a recent centenary celebration. Among the foreigners who placed wreaths and delivered speeches before the statue of General Hoche was an envoy from a country which has been mentioned quite frequently in despatches lately as the "de jure" Irish republic. The mayor replied with great enthusiasm to the Sinn Feiner's oration, lauding "the new republic" which has grown out of the war.

The British Embassy at Paris protested to the Quai d'Orsay and the mayor has been asked to brush up in his geography and explain how it happens that he is unaware that Ireland is still a part of the friendly British empire.

Tanker Leaves With Seized Oil Cargo

MARTINEZ, Sept. 21.—After seizing 13,000 barrels of fuel oil, the naval tanker Kanawha left the Shell Oil plant last night for San Diego where the oil will be supplied to the destroyers. The tanker began loading the oil at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and completed the job at 6 o'clock. The 13,000 barrels constituted all the oil at the plant. Officers of the ships stated that the reason for the delay in loading the oil was that the oil in the pipes was hot and would have sprung the vessel if taken on immediately.

PERSHING'S NEPHEW WED.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 21.—Captain R. B. Paddock of Dallas, Texas, nephew of General Pershing, and Miss Doris Johnston, daughter of a prominent St. Louis family, were married at the bride's home here late yesterday.

Nature gave us natural cosmetics in Palm and Olive oils—a lotion as well as cleansers. Their action is gentle, they are mild and soothing, as Cleopatra knew.

A secret of the stage every woman should know

Why you can buy it at the price of other soap

Because Palmolive is so popular that we make it in enormous volume. The Palmolive factories work day and night to supply the demand. The costly ingredients are bought in vast quantities.

The result is a moderate price which puts Palmolive within reach of all. Yet wealth can command nothing better.

Palmolive is sold by all dealers everywhere. It is supplied in guest room size by popular hotels the country over.

For years women of the stage have belied the theory that cosmetics injure the complexion. They use rouge and powder constantly, yet their skins are usually good. They look younger than other women. Actresses seem never to grow old.

The secret is simple—stage women know that cosmetics should not be left on. They keep their complexions so scrupulously clean that rouge and powder can't harm them.

How you can wash for beauty

By using your own two hands and a cake of Palmolive. Work up a thick, creamy lather and massage it thoroughly into the skin. Be sure every tiny pore and minute gland is cleansed from clogging accumulations.

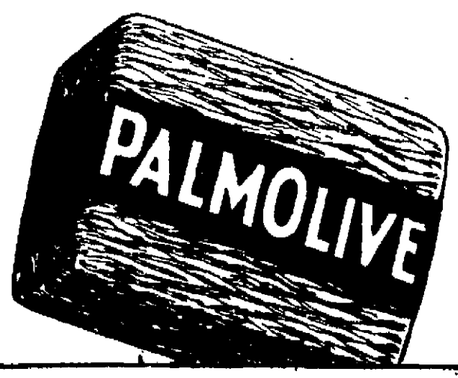

Then rinse thoroughly—with your hands—until every trace of lather disappears. Apply plenty of Palmolive Cold Cream.

Do this every day and you needn't worry about a little rouge and powder. Your skin will be smooth and fine textured. Blackheads, blotches and pimples will never bother you.

A mild, gentle cleanser

Palmolive is the safe soap—the mild, gentle cleanser because it is made from Palm and Olive oils—the same precious oils Cleopatra used in the days of ancient Egypt.

These natural cleansers were a historic toilet luxury, adorning the sumptuous baths of classic days. Now their scientific combination in Palmolive achieves the greatest luxury of modern times.

COX CONCLUDES HIS CALIFORNIA CAMPAIGN TODAY

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20.—Governor Cox of Ohio, democratic presidential candidate, faced a busy day, the program of which called for the conclusion of his southern California campaign and his departure for Arizona this afternoon.

Five scheduled speeches remained on his program for southern California. One was at Long Beach, three at Los Angeles and at San Bernardino. This called for a morning trip to Long Beach and return to this city, where he was to address the City Advertising club, a luncheon of club women and Southern California Editorial association. The speech at San Bernardino was to come late in the afternoon.

As at his speeches in San Diego yesterday and in Los Angeles last night, those today were expected to be featured by the league of nations and kindred subjects, as sentiment in favor of the league was said to be strong in southern California.

Last night, at his first speech in Los Angeles, where he addressed one of the largest audiences of his western trip, the governor, for the first time, discussed the Hitchcock reservations to the league of nations, declaring they met "all sincere objections."

He charged some "reactionary" newspapers were suppressing the news of his campaign, adding, "they used to be preaching the league of nations, but are not saying anything about it now; but they are saying Cox is wet."

League Lets 24 Nations Rule U. S., Harding Holds

MARION, O., Sept. 21.—Warning that the league of nations is full of "Roman ambiguities," and that it was an ambiguity in our own constitution that led to the Civil War, Senator Harding yesterday asked a delegation of Civil War Veterans and a delegation of Kentucky and Tennessee citizens "how we ever can consent to enter into a new world compact with a dozen ambiguities in it."

The Senator asserted that Article 10 of the league is a "reciprocal pledge on our part to help preserve the independence and national integrity of forty-four nations," and that the article and its correlaries "clearly contemplate war if need be, to make this preservation possible."

CONSTITUTION IGNORED.

Asserting that President Wilson had placed the "purport of an obsolete Clayton-Bulwer treaty" above our constitutional rights, in requiring tolls from American vesse's passing through the Panama canal, Senator Harding exclaimed:

"Who cares to say that this same sort of logic will not some day be used to plague an unwilling America into foreign war if we unreservedly subscribe to Article 10, the Constitution to the contrary notwithstanding?

"Have you ever stopped to think that we, one people, with naturally one interest, were led into the Civil War by a mere ambiguity in the Federal Constitution? In the beginning we were so divided in our ideas that there was of necessity uncertainty left in the compact that was made and it required the Civil War to wipe it out. And that was a very great price to pay. But, remembering that, my countrymen, I want to ask you, knowing the cost of wiping out the ambiguity in the Constitution, of our own republic, how can we ever consent to enter into a new world compact with a dozen ambiguities in it.

ATTACK ARTICLE 10.

"Let me call to your particular attention to one: There is much dispute about that which is known as "the heart of the league.' No American can be simultaneously for Article X and for the Constitution of our Republic any more than an American in Lincoln's time could be simultaneously for emancipation and for slavery.

"Article X is a reciprocal pledge on our part to help preserve the independence and the territorial integrity of forty-four nations, if all who are invited to join the league do so, commanding thirty-five million square miles of the earth's surface. Article X and its corollary certainly contemplate war, if need, to make this preservation possible. In cases of such war it is official testimony in the words of the President himself that America is under an "absolutely compelling moral obligation" to go in. Mark well those words. There is nothing elastic about absolute compulsion.

DOCUMENTS CLASH.

"Yet the Constitution makes Congress absolutely sovereign over America's decision as to war. Therefore, what is the result? The covenant and the Constitution clash. Confronted with this inescapable fact, American citizens are told by league apologists and by the Democratic nominee for President that legally no treaty can subvert the Constitution, and therefore that by resort to legal excuse, we may escape the absolute compulsion of a solemnly pledged moral obligation. A choice in words between the American Constitution and dishonor."

Following a conference with Senator Harding today, Ralph H. Cameron of Phoenix, Ariz., candidate for United States Senator, issued a statement saying the Presidential candidate had given assurance, if elected, to support Arizona's claims to Federal aid in her reclamation, good roads and electrical projects.

DEMOCRATS WILL NOT INTERFERE: SENATOR PHELAN

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 21.—A promise that a Democratic administration will not trespass upon the jurisdiction of the state in dealing with land and other questions, particularly questions relating to the Japanese immigration problem was continued in a message to the Democratic principles and for the exclusion of Japanese from the soil of California, Senator Phelan is in the San Joaquin Valley campaigning for re-election.

"I regret my absence from Sacramento," Senator Phelan said in the message. "I am in the San Joaquin Valley making public addresses and find the audience large and enthusiastic for progressive Democratic principles and for the exclusive of Japanese from the soil of California.

"The convention should in my opinion congratulate the administration on its constructive policies and upon the successful prosecution of the war and the stabilizing in first of the Federal Reserve Act. There has been no scandal, no panic and no disaster.

"The only pledge given by any political party is that in the Democratic platform which promises to support remedial state legislation where the states are affected by the Japanese menace. That means that a Democratic administration will not trespass upon the jurisdiction of the state in dealing with the land and other questions.

"I venture to suggest, in harmony with the sentiment of the state, that the convention adopt a strong plank endorsing initiative Amendment No. 1, which perfects the state statute, which has been so long evaded, denying to persons ineligible to citizenship the right to own or lease land, and to deny citizenship to aliens in capable of such assimiliation. We must, like other countries bordering upon the Pacific, preserve America as a white's man's country.

"Registration is no indication of the way men and women are thinking nor does, it forecast how they shall act. I consider California an open field for men and measures. I wish the convention success in its deliberations."

Senator Phelan's message was sent to the convention from Fresno

Must Supercede 'Gentlemen's Agreement,' Says Stephens

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 21.—Declarations that Senator Harding "is for California and California will be for him in November" were made by Governor William D. Stephens in an address before the Republican state convention here today. The governor told the delegates of his recent visit at Marion, Ohio to the Republican candidate for president.

Senator Harding on the Japanese immigration question, the governor said, insists that "it is not only our right but our duty to defend our standards and to see to it that they are not impaired by the coming to us of any people not capable of being adopted into our American life.

NOT LOCAL QUESTION

"Viewed in the light of his full understanding," Governor Stephens continued, "the question of restricting unassimilable Oriental immigration no longer can be said to be a mere local question in which California and the Pacific Coast states alone are deeply concerned, but it has become a live national issue.

"Of 'gentlemen's agreements' and otherwise, which ignore our right to say who shall and who shall not enter our country and participate in our activities, but which leave that determination in the hands of the governments whose nationals seek to come among us we have had quite enough. The so-called 'gentlemen's agreement' and the treaty with Japan must be superceded by a new treaty which will clearly define our right to say who shall and who shall not come among us.

UNDERSTANDS PROBLEMS

"Senator Harding clearly understands the problems with which our manufacturers, agriculturists and orchardists on this coast have had to contend during a Democratic administration. That these industries have not been destroyed has been due to a war which resulted in an almost complete paralysis of production in other nations and stopped importations which otherwise would have flooded our markets. But production in these other nations now is being resumed.

"Senator Harding knows the lemon growers of California are unable to market their crops because they cannot compete with foreign lemons which sell in New York for less than cost of transportation of California crops to Atlantic markets.

REST ON FIRM BASIS

"It is Senator Harding's purpose to see to it that agriculture shall rest upon a firm and solid basis and it be fostered, encouraged and fully protected. He believes in preserving American markets for American products."

Governor Stephens told the delegates he hoped they would return to their homes and undertake the campaign with the realization that "you are not interested alone in your own personal success but that you equally will fight for the successes of Harding and Coolidge and our entire congressional ticket, especially Samuel M. Shortridge, whose brains and voice are needed in the United States senate to insure California's full cooperation with a Republican president."

Sisters Battle for Estate of Father

A battle in which sister is opposed to sister and in which the widow of the deceased also is fighting for a share in the estate began today over the $20,000 property left by Frank La Breck, who died August 28, 1919.

Judge E. J. Brown continued the case until October 25, after a partial hearing, to enable the contestants to submit proof of relationship and their consequent right to contest.

The contestants are Mrs. Julia La Breck, Eva Goodwin and Ethie Van Omen, the two latter being daughters of La Breck. The suit is against Mabel F. Winsor and Lillie E. McCarthy, also daughters of the deceased. It is charged that the defendants procured the will, which cuts off the contestants, by fraud.

Concord Mayor Not Guilty of Battery

CONCORD, Sept. 21.—Mayor J. M. Finney was found not guilty today of assault upon Jack Gilman, son of J. M. Gilman. The case has attracted the trial was witnessed by a large crowd. Deputy District Attorney Leo Tormey was assisted by L. Seidenberg of San Francisco as special prosecutor, while Mayor Finney had engaged Alva S. Sherlock. Finney introduced witnesses who said that he had not struck Gilman, but had merely taken him by the shoulder and told him he had a good notion to chastise him. The encounter happened after young Gilman had driven his machine into Finney's machine. Justice of the Peace E. P. Jackson, in finding the mayor not guilty, scored young Gilman for driving his car into Finney's when he could easily have passed it.

ORIENTAL AIR TO FEATURE BAZAAR

The streets of Bagdad, where the Oriental bazaar will be held during "The Merry Whirl of 1920," on the evenings of September 30, October 1 and 2, at the Oakland Municipal Auditorium, to benefit the Baby Hospital Association of Alameda county, will be a brilliant spectacle, it became known today with the announcement of arrangements.

Reports were made of the personnel working for eight branches of the association handling the bazaar details. Sixteen branches altogether are enlisted in this work.

The shops in the Oriental section will be lavishly decorated with art lamps and priceless Persian rugs lent from the homes of prominent East-bay people. The costumes of the shopkeepers will give a brilliant note to the entire recreated Bagdad.

PROMINENT WORKERS

Among the many prominent women working for the success of the annual Bay Hospital bazaar are the members of the Linden Branch, under the chairmanship of Mrs. M. L. Walsh. They will exhibit dolls of all kinds that can appeal to the affections of the small girl. Some of them will have complete trousseaus. There will be beds ready to tuck them away in at night. There will be something entirely new in the way of paper dolls with life-like faces handpainted on cardboard.

The Linden Branch will continue to sell balloons, novelty bean bags and games for the children, including the famous "Grandma's Crazy Quilt" game. But they have departed somewhat from their usual offerings this year and are offering a line of bags, bead bags, vanity bags and shopping bags.

MEMBERS OF BRANCH

The members of the Linden Branch are:

Miss Letitia Barry, Mrs. H. T. Barbier, Mrs. J. B. Black, Mrs. F. Bradshal, Mrs. K. Brackett, Mrs. C. L. Butler, Mrs. J. F. Carlston, Mrs. P. T. Clay, Mrs. Arthur Crist, Mrs. F. T. Dickman, Mrs. R. Williamson, Mrs. William Knowles.

The Laurel Branch, under the direction of Mrs. Churchill Taylor, will continue to offer baskets. There will be large baskets trimmed with silk, fruit and waste baskets suitable for boudoir or living room. There will be Italian fiber baskets attractively lined for work baskets. There will be trench baskets embroidered with wool and raffia.

WILL SELL APRONS

In addition to their baskets, the Laurel Branch will show handpainted fans, bookends made of tapestry and sweet-meat boxes covered with tapestry. They will have, too, bassinettes for dolls quaintly trimmed in silks and laces, complete and ready for the doll baby. They will sell garden aprons of cretone with gloves to match.

The members of the Laurel Branch are: Mrs. Edson Adams, Mrs. Edson F. Adams, Mrs. Henry H. Love Scene Photos Won Hubby Divorce

Superior Judge T. W. Harris today granted an interlocutory decree of divorce to Albert Druby from Esther Druby after it had been shown that the wife had been guilty of indiscretions with other men and after photographs of herself and men companions had been introduced. One of these photographs showed her sitting on the lap of a man and another showed her with a man's arms around her, their heads being concealed by the brim of her hat.

Druby was granted the custody of the child, a boy 3 years old. The couple were married August 11, 1916, and separated March 15, 1918.

RED CROSS CHIEF DIES.

BELGRADE, Sept. 21.—Funeral services for Major E. B. Metheany of the American Red Cross, whose home was Seattle, were conducted today by the Jugo-Slav military officials.

Council Adopts Plans For Sewering Avenue

The City Council this morning adopted plans and specifications for the sewering of Lagunitas avenue, from Perry street southwest.

An ordinance was adopted closing and abandoning Plaza street, Depot street, Mountain View street and portions of Prospect and Bay View streets. The mayor was directed to prepare deeds for the sale of such portions as can be sold to property-owners.

Petitions were received from property-owners asking cement sidewalks on Fifty-eighth street, between Telegraph and Shattuck avenues, and for the improvement of [illegible] land avenue, from San Carlos to Fairfax.

POGROMS IN GALICIA.

VIENNA, Sept. 21.—Jewish refugees declare that the troops of General Petlura, Ukranian leader, are committing widespread anti-Semetic outrages in East Galicia.

NEBRASKA VOTE HELD.

OMAHA, Sept. 21.—Forty-one proposed State constitutional amendments, including an industrial commission proposal and a provision for unrestricted suffrage for women, are being voted upon by Nebraska voters at a special election today.

Four Red Seal Records of Unusual Merit

CHANSON DE LA TOURAINE (Emilio de Gogorza) 64862 $1.25
Touraine, with its castles and chateaux, its crumbling cathedrals and sleepy rivers, blue skies and tall standing grain, is truly pictured in this charming song.

PIETA SIGNORE (Lord, Have Mercy).
Enrico Caruso 88509 1.75
By this selection the imagination is carried to the interior of some large cathedral, where dim-lit spaces and lofty pillars echo and re-echo to the sinner's plea for mercy, "Have Pity, O, Lord."

CARMEN-HABANERA (Love Is Like a Woodbird) 74613 1.75
Admirers of this famous air from Carmen will be delighted to hear its interpretation by Gabrielle Ressmond, a new Victor artist. This is the song with which the Carmen, the reckless and beautiful cigarette girl, lures Don Jose to his ruin.

MINUET (Jascha Heifetz) 64856 1.25
Imagine the elaborate courtesy with which the gallants of the seventeenth century circumvented to this music, which Kreisler has arranged for the violin, and Heifetz has idealized into a modern dream-dance of the utmost lightness and delicacy.

WOMAN'S SOBS DELAY COURT

When Mrs. Fred Asquith, 689 Thirty-second street, was called into Police Judge Mortimer Smith's court this morning to testify against her husband, whom she had had arrested for failure to provide, she told between sobs of how her better half had ordered her to take a dozen eggs back to the grocery store because he had not given her permission to purchase them. Her sobbing halted the machinery of the court for several minutes.

She also told of how her husband cut her allowance off and refused to take her out to movie shows so he could save money with which to buy an automobile and go out riding with other women.

"He didn't give me a cent," she told the court. "Before the saloons closed he used to gamble all his money away, and when the saloons closed he went to Emeryville where he squandered it in gambling games."

"Where does your husband gamble now?" Judge Smith asked.

"I don't know just where, but it's in Emeryville somewhere."

The case was put over for a month.

Novelty Planned For Tribune Club

Something new is planned for The TRIBUNE'S Aunt Elsie Club members this week. It is a marshmellow party, to be held Thursday, September 23, up on The TRIBUNE Roof, as soon after school as the kiddies can come.

There will be the usual splendid program, with nearly all new talent for a surprise. The little entertainers have been trained and especially rehearsed for this party by Mrs. May Tyrrel.

The marshmellow party is for all the girls and boys of the Aunt Elsie Club and their mothers.

DRANK 2920 PINTS.

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 21.—Frank Kenney counted that day lost whose low descending sun had not seen him drink a pint of whisky. Mrs. Kenney told Judge Butler here today in her application for a divorce. Kenney, according to his wife, drank 2920 pints of whisky in the last eight years.

FAGAN PUPIL, 10, IS JAILED FOR TRICKING STORE

Posing as an errand girl, a ten-year-old school girl of Oakland has secured several hundred dollars' worth of merchandise from Kahn's department store by appearing at the store with what appeared to be merchandise orders from various women in Alameda requesting that certain articles be delivered to the girl and charged to their accounts.

According to the police, the child cleverly evaded all suspicion by selecting patrons of the store who had credit accounts. She was taken into cutody yesterday by one of the officials at the departmnet store after she had attempted to secure several articles of merchandise which she attempted to have charged to Mrs. Ira Moser of Alameda.

Jacob Goldberg, S. F. Pioneer Grocer, Dies

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—Jacob Goldberg, pioneer grocer, is dead at his home, 1782 Pacific avenue. The end came after many days of illness. Goldberg was one of the founders of the Goldberg-Bowen grocery, having come to California from Nevada years ago with another partner and purchased a small stand which the company developed. Charity and the congregation of Temple Beth Israel both knew the grocer as a helpful and active worker. There is a widow and one son, Harry, and Mrs. Ralph Davis, a daughter, survive. There is a valuable estate.

HIS WAR RECORD SAVES MINISTER TRIAL AS BRIBER

War record, service as a scout and age has moved Commissioner of Health and Safety F. F. Morse and Chief of Police J. F. Lynch to inform Mrs. Pierce, the young wife of Rev. John H. Pierce, that unless the "marrying parson" returned to California he would not be prosecuted on the charge of bribing an officer. Mrs. Pierce announced that she and her children would join her fugitive husband in Honolulu.

Rev. Pierce claims to be California's oldest living civil war veteran. He has been army balloonist, scout, plainsman and chaplain. Cut-rate weddings in his offices across from the Hall of Records won for him the title of "marrying parson." Several months ago a warrant was issued for his arrest, charging him with an attempt to bribe William O'Malia, city sanitary inspector, who had ordered sanitary improvements on property owned by Mrs. Pierce.

Pierce disappeared. But the 80-year-old man grew lonesome without his family and had a great desire to see again his infant son. He wrote letters imploring Mrs. Pierce to join him. Fearful that he might be traced through her, she refused until she had the declaration of Commissioner Morse and Chief Lynch that her husband would not be brought back for trial. Mrs. Pierce has pleaded with the officials for this assurance for the last week. The charge will not be pressed unless Pierce returns to this city.

Pierce contemplates spending his remaining days in Honolulu.

500 Bank Employees Will Attend Rally

More than 500 bank employees and the officers of practically all Eastbay banking houses will go to the rally of the Oakland chapter of the American Institute of Banking at the Hotel Oakland tonight. The meeting, which is aimed to be educational, will be presided over by W. W. Sorrick of the First National Bank of Berkeley. He is vice-president of the chapter. A new educational program will be outlined. Walter D. Cole of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce will be the chief speaker.

SLAYER'S SANITY DOUBTED.

MUSKEGON, Mich., Sept. 21.—Dr. Otis Sedgewick of Whitehall, Mich., charged with the murder of his wife and 3-year-old daughter, was committed to the state hospital at Traverse City yesterday for observation as to his sanity.

The only thing I don't like about this work is the way it shuts you away from folks. Answering letters in print is cold-blooded business. When a real trouble comes up I'd like to get nearer to the Pal who's in trouble and help carry the load. Here's a letter that's so honest and hurt it made my heart ache:

Dear Miss Geraldine—They've been telling me down at the shop that you are The TRIBUNE'S new fixer for troubles, and I surely have a trouble that I wish you could fix. I'm engaged to the prettiest little girl in the world. Say, Geraldine, you ought to see that little girl. There isn't anything I wouldn't do for her. We've been in love for six years, since we was kids. We were just waiting till my job got good enough to be married, and it's good enough now. But now she keeps putting me off. She's been running around with a sort of highbrow crowd with new-fangled notions, who bob their hair and tell her that the kind of a life we were planning is all wrong. They say a girl ought to have more freedom and not be tied to one fellow and housework and kids. Of course, I'd be glad to give her anything she wants. But I don't understand this new kind of talk. What do you make of it? JOHN S. K——.

I don't make anyhing of it, John, but a heartache. I think it's all the silliest, wickedest kind of tommy rot. Do you know what book I have on my desk beside my dictionary? I have a Bible, Friend. There's a volume that has the greatest amount of dope on human nature of any book I know. And there's one verse that applies exactly to all this "freer life" stuff. It says:

Real Happiness

"For whosoever will save his life shall lose it—"

There's only one way to live big—and that's to live OUT. Cut from yourself, out into somebody's else's life. Your "prettiest little girl" will never find happiness by starting out to look for it. But I'm pretty sure that it will steal on her unaware if she'll put her hand in yours, John, and go with you to that little bungalow—to the dish washing and the sweeping—and the babies some day. Perhaps if you'll show her this it will help. At any rate, be very sure of this—"individual freedom," "soul expression" are just new names for the old, old disease of SELFISHNESS.

Dear Geraldine—I have a short length of blue serge—not quite enough to make my girl a school dress. What can I combine it with? I am tired of plaids.

MRS. RICHARD STONE.

I saw a delightful little "model dress" the other day that you might have liked. Blue serge was used in combination with a dull, brick red jersey cloth. The red was very dark, almost mahogany. There was a braiding in the same red on the blue, and a dull red belt.

A Simple Lunch

Dear Geraldine—Can you suggest an unusual and inexpensive menu for a simple lunch HELEN.

If you like liver the following makes an unusual luncheon entree. Stuff thin slices of liver with a dressing of bread and poultry seasoning. Wrap the liver around the dressing in a small roll, then over this wrap a strip of bacon, skewering in place with a toothpick. Bake and serve with fried apples. You might use a fruit salad for dessert. Arrange a slice of pineapple on lettuce. In the center of the pineapple put a spoonful of currant jelly. Sprinkle grated cheese and nuts over the whole and add a French dressing in which lemon juice is used instead of vinegar. Iced "orange pekoe" tea, served with slices of orange and lemons makes a novel beverage.

AUTOIST SOUGHT FOR KILLING OF LOREN HANDLEY

Search for the reckless automobile driver who crowded the machine of Loren E. Handley, state prohibition enforcement officer, off the highway near Lodi, and who was the cause of an accident which resulted in Handley's death, will be prosecuted in every part of the state, according to an announcement of state and county officials made today.

The accident took place last night nine miles north of Lodi on what is known as "Dead Man's Curve," where several other fatal automobile mishaps have happened. Handley's machine, a rented one, was driven by a chauffeur named Bert Devine, who was but slightly injured.

An inquest is to be held at Lodi at 8 o'clock tonight, but complications arose this morning when it was found that Devine, driver of the car and the principal witness is missing. Devine stayed at a Lodi hotel last night, but as all the rooms were taken, was assigned a cot in the hall. This morning Devine could not be found, although the bed had been slept in. Officials state that in telephoning San Francisco yesterday he gave his name as Devalle, but he registered at the hotel under the name of Devine.

It is believed that the Handley machine, on rounding the curve, came front to front with another automobile and that in trying to escape collision the driver threw the car to the edge of the road so fast that it jumped the highway and rolled into the ditch. The other driver did not stop.

Handley was taken to Lodi in an auto stage, but was dead when he arrived.

It was some time after the accident before the identity of the victim was determined. When Handley's address was found in a grip picked up near the wrecked machine the first clew was given. The driver, De Vine, said that he did not know who he was driving, but that he left San Francisco yesterday afternoon en route for Sacramento. It was Ray Groves of Los Angeles, en route to Sacramento to attend the Democratic convention over which Handley was to have presided, who made positive identification of the body. Groves will take it to Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 21.—Loren A. Handley, who was reported killed last night near Lodi, Calif., was born February 12, 1881, at Franklin, Ind. He was graduated from Princeton in 1904; took a course in theology in Princeton Theological Seminary, being graduated in 1905. He studied constitutional law and jurisprudence under Woodrow Wilson, then president of Princeton.

In 1905 he was called to the chair of mental and moral philosophy at Emporia College, Kansas, also teaching international law and economics. In 1907 he resigned and took a position in Occidental College, Los Angeles, where he taught for three years. He became interested in politics and quit his professorship to run for Congress, but was defeated. He was active in what was known as the "Good Government Movement."

Handley was elected city clerk of Los Angeles in December, 1910, and afterward was appointed president of the Board of Public Works, holding that office for seven and a half years until he resigned to become federal prohibition director.

Central 'Bus Lines Hearing Arranged

George Mattis, superintendent of Streets, today received from the Railroad Commission a communication setting for Tuesday, September 28, a hearing of Mattis' petition for a centralization of the bus lines which now go into Oakland through various streets.

It is asserted that the traffic congestion and the wear and tear of streets has made it necessary that the helter-skelter running of the buses through any and all streets be stopped.

Sergeant John Fahy, head of the Traffic Bureau, has been invited to the conference, as well as the heads of all the bus lines centering into Oakland.

NEGLECT RESULTS IN LOSS OF HAIR

Chicago Specialist Says Proper Care Would Prevent Many Cases of Baldness

The mere use of the comb and brush three or four times a day is not sufficient attention to pay to one of nature's most wonderful gifts, says Prof. John H. Austin, bacteriologist, hair and scalp specialist of Chicago, who now has offices at The Owl Drug Co.

Both men and women owe it to themselves to keep their hair healthy, beautiful and abundant—and the proper corrective treatment of scalp disorders will do this.

Nature's signs of distress—dandruff, itching scalp, falling hair, dry or brittle hair—warn you of approaching baldness. Do not wait a day—see Prof. Austin, over 40 years a specialist—he will advise you what to do.

By showing you the roots of your own hair, magnified thousands of times, pointing out to you the parasites that are destroying your hair day by day, gradually killing every root until, in time, the head becomes entirely bald, you will be convinced that any delay may be deeply regretted. Prof. Austin says the use of mange cures, dandruff cures, hair tonics, etc., is like taking medicine without knowing what you are trying to cure.

FREE MICROSCOPIC EXAMINATION of the hair and scalp—both men and women invited—Private Office at The Owl Drug Co., 14th and Washington, Oakland; 775 Market St., San Francisco. Hours 10 to 12 and 3 to 4—Advertisement.

CITY MUSEUM HAS LABORATORY FOR TANNING

The work room of the Oakland Public Museum is being transformed into a complete tanning laboratory in preparation for the receipt of the first shipment of African lion and leopard skins from the Leslie Simson hunting expedition which is expected to arrive here some time this month.

Hubert Vogelsang, nationally known fur dresser specializing in taxidermic work, and who formerly was a colleague of Curator John Rowley of the museum when the latter had charge of the exhibits of the American Museum of Natural History, joined the staff of the Oakland Museum this week. He is now busy arranging the tanning machinery at the museum and getting everything in readiness for the receipt of the first shipment.

Word has just been received at the museum that the second shipment of animal skins from Africa was created and started on its way three weeks ago.

Railway Employees To Picnic Tomorrow

The annual picnic and dance of the employees of the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railways will be held tomorrow (Wednesday) in East Shore park, Richmond. The offices will close at noon in order to allow the employees to attend the affair. E. F. Smith, chairman of the general committee, has arranged the program.

The various committees follow:

General committee—J. W. Brom, F. R. Lloyd, C. D. Bennetts, Gertrude Walters, Rose Silver, F. F. Mann, J. R. Robinson, B. M. Jones, Hallie Hayes, Annie Mansfield, H. K. Townsend, C. C. Weber, Elsie Peterson, Myrtle Hansen, Ethel Mayon. Dance committee—Gertrude Walters, floor manager; Elsie Peterson, Bess Simmons, Maud Griffin, Annie Mansfield, Hallie Hayes. Sub-committee chairmen, J. W. Brom, sports; H. K. Townsend, grounds; C. D. Bennetts, concessions; Hallie Hayes, entertainment; C. C. Weber, transportation; F. R. Lloyd, ways and means; F. F. Mann, publicity and Gertrude Walters, dancing.

TRINITY CENTER DEBATE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21. — A large attendance is expected to hear the debate at Trinity Center, Twenty-third street near Mission, on Wednesday evening, for and against Amendment Number Twenty. It provides for the application of the Single Tax to this State. Wm. L. Ross of Los Angeles, campaign manager for the amendment and editor of "The Great Adventure," will take the affirmative and Henry E. Monroe, Esq., of this city, the negative side.

PERALTA SCHOOL PLANS APPROVED

Can a school district buy real estate on time, such as a dollar down and a dollar a week, just like a citizen?

The question was discussed last night before the Board of Education, which was figuring how to stretch its shrunken building funds so as to cover all the ground needed. It was finally decided that buying on time would be unwise for such an indebtedness would stand against a school board just as heavily as if there were cash debts involved.

Preliminary plans of the new Olive street school, as yet unnamed, were approved. The plans carry the rear wing as a two-story building.

It was decided that the official names shall be given to schools as soon as possible, to facilitate the making of plans.

Final plans and specifications for Peralta school were approved. Contracts will be entered into immediately with the following architects: J. B. S. Cahill, for Highland school; C. W. McCall, for Lockwood school.

The loss of Independence Square as a possible school site was not discussed.

MAY KEEP SECRET.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 21.—The Supreme Court has decided that a woman should not be required to tell her age in order to qualify as a voter.

MURDERER DIES, SUICIDE.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 21.—Frederico Y. Luar, known also as Guillermo Ortiz, said by police to have shot and killed Manuel Campos de Lopez and then to have shot himself here yesterday, died early last night in a hospital.

WRANGEL'S HORSE COUNTERS; CUTS OFF RED ARMY

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 20 (by the Associated Press.)—General Wrangel's latest cavalry drive against the Bolsheviki in South Russia has won him valuable strategic positions on the railway. More than 2000 prisoners and quantities of supplies were taken, it is reported in advices from the Crimea.

The cavalry, by a surprise attack captured Oriakhoff and the railroad junction of Petropavlovsk. The Wrangel forces now are menacing Alexandrovsk, about ninety miles inland from the sea of Azov.

The Japanese Government has an observer at Sebastopol. General Wrangel's headquarters.

By LUCIEN JONES,
Corespondent of the International News Service and London Daily Express.

WARSAW, Sept. 20 (via London, Sept. 21).—Although the Russians are reported in disorderly retreat all along the southern end of the Polish-Galician battlefront, Leon Trotzky, the Bolshevik minister of war, is believed to be massing two new armies of 100,000 men for a new blow in the north. The Bolshevik forces are being concentrated in the sector of the Niemen river, on the northern end of the front, to attempt a new counter-offensive. The two Russian armies are reported by airmen to be well equipped. They consist largely of troops drawn from Siberia.

Trotzy is said to have established headquarters at Lida.

DIAMOND DYES

Any Woman can Dye now

Each package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple that any woman can diamond-dye any old, faded garments, draperies, coverings, everything, whether wool, silk, linen, cotton or mixed goods, a new, rich, fadeless color.

Buy "Diamond Dyes"—no other kind—then perfect results are guaranteed even if you have never dyed before. Druggists will show you Diamond Dyes Color Card.—Advertisement.

MOTHER!

"California Syrup of Figs" Child's Best Laxative!

Accept "California" Syrup of Figs only—look for the name California on the package, then you are sure your child is having the best and most harmless physic for the little stomach, liver and bowels. Children love its fruity taste. Full directions on each bottle. You must say "California."—Advertisement.

To Regain a Healthy, Girlish Complexion

If you would have a clear, fresh, girlish complexion, one ounce of ordinary mercolized wax will aid you in this direction more than shelves full of cosmetics. It produces a natural beauty. This wax, procurable at any drugstore, completely absorbs a bad complexion, revealing the healthy young skin underneath. Its work is done so gradually, day by day, that no inconvenience is caused. The wax is applied at night like cold cream, and removed in the morning with soap and water.

Another valuable rejuvenating treatment—this for wrinkles—is to bathe your face in a solution of powdered saxolite, one ounce dissolved in a half pint of witch hazel. This has a remarkable action in smoothing out the lines and "firming up" the loose tissue.—Advertisement.

To Free Your Arms of Hair or Fuzz

(Boudoir Secrets)

No toilet table is complete without a small package of delatone, for with it hair or fuzz can be quickly banished from the skin. To remove hairs you merely mix into a paste enough of the powder and water to cover the objectionable hairs. This should be left on the skin about 2 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed, when it will be found free from hair or blemish. Be sure you get genuine delatone.—Advertisement.

BLUE BIRD BUREAU of the TRIBUNE

Has anyone a dog—a collie or a fox terrier, an airedale or a bull—anything so long as it is just dog? Here comes a housewife and her husband, pleading for one and promising a good home in Emeryville. Moreover they offer "references" to anyone who will trust their pet to them. "We have a small cottage and a large yard," the letter says, "but we cannot spare the money to buy a dog. My husband has been sick for two months. We like dogs very much."

So, here, let ... a good home for that dog from whom you must part.

The bicycle has come. It is not a brand new one and it is going to need tires and repairs, but it is certain to bring joy to the youngsters in the nearby orphanage, whose big wish has been for something to ride upon. Maybe there is another wheel which someone would like to share with these girls and boys whose only mother is an institution. The turn will be long in coming with just one bicycle.

The little 17-year-old girl in the County Infirmary has found a purchaser for one of the crochet collars which she so deftly fashions. The Blue Bird only this morning received the letter from San Leandro which ordered the bit of handwork. The young woman is crippled with rheumatism. Any small act that helps restore her faith in her economic independence is a wonderful gift to her.

Jayne to Command U. S. Supply Fleet

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—Orders transferring Rear Admiral J. L. Jayne from command of the Twelfth Naval district to command of the Pacific supply fleet, with his flagship, the Minneapolis, have been received. Jayne's successor here is not announced. The change, which is routine in nature, takes place October 1.

STATE SESSION OF M. E. CHURCH COMES TO CLOSE

Closing the annual session of the California conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, Bishop Adna W. Leonard at noon today announced the appointments to pastorates and the delegates dispersed.

Just before the appointments were read, the delegates voted to hold the conference next year in San Jose. An invitation was received from Santa Cruz but the choice of San Jose practically was unanimous.

Coincident with announcing of the appointments, retirements also were made known. Rev. E. R. Dille retired to become pastor emeritus of the First Methodist church of Oakland. Others who retire are Revs. Cheynowith of Alameda; Richard Radda of Sacromento; S. D. Hutsinpillar, Carmel; H. C. Richardson of Watsonville and K. W. Robinson of Point Arena.

MEMBERS GAINED

Statistical reports showed the conference had gained 3522 new members and probations in the year, that it had raised pastors' salaries $32,522 and that it had raised $302,471 for special charitable and missionary purposes.

The conference adopted resolutions endorsing the League of Nations.

The following are the appointments for Oakland district:

H. E. Milnes, district superintendent, 3033 Regent street, Berkeley, Cal.; phone Berkeley 1573.

Alameda—First, Santa Clara avenue, D. O. Colegrove, B. F. Ray.

Albany—V. C. Brown.

Antioch—J. M. Wilson.

Berkeley—College avenue, F. K. Baker; First, T. A. Story; Trinity, E. P. Dennett; Wesley, A. P. Beale.

Brentwood—A. Z. Boze.

Byron—O. H. Green.

Ceres and Keyes—To be supplied.

El Cerrito—R. W. Kail.

Escalon—L. H. Jenkins.

Hayward—C. W. Hull.

Hughson—H. K. Hamilton.

Livermore—H. N. Fifer.

Manteca—O. H. Langdon.

Martinez—G. A. Werner.

Modesto—C. B. Sylvester.

Oakland—Centennial—A. J. Kennedy; Eighth Avenue, Jas. Whitaker; Eighty-third Avenue, S. J. Hughes; First, John Stephens; Fruitvale, H. Pressfield; Golden Gate, H. Baker; Grace, S. J. Buck; Melrose, W. C. Robins; St. Andrews, T. A. Story; St. Stephens, G. A. Riegler; Shattuck Avenue, N. E. Gibbs; Twenty-fourth Avenue, G. C. Pearson.

Oakley—D. N. Howe.

Pinole—Herculas, J. H. Rogers.

Richmond—First, S. J. Hocking; Wesley, Paul Little.

Riverbank—M. J. Williams.

San Leandro—H. B. Sellers.

Tracy—D. Ralston.

Turlock—F. A. Keast.

Walnut Creek—J. Cole.

Among the special appointments are the following:

A. H. Briggs, superintendent Anti-Saloon League of Northern California; H. B. Johnson, superintendent Pacific Japanese Mission, College avenue, Berkeley Q. C.; Tully C. Knoles, president College of the Pacific, College Park Q. C.; A. N. Moll, agent American Bible Society, Wesley, Berkeley Q. C.; G. L. Pearson, superintendent Pacific Chinese Mission, First Church, Oakland Q. C.; W. C. Poole, field secretary World's Temperance Movement, First Church, Oakland Q. C.; M. S. Vail, president Anglo-Japanese Training School, Eighth Avenue, Oakland Q. C.

Three states—California, Nevada and Arizona—were represented at the conference, and by means of missionaries which the First Methodist Church of Oakland, as part of its work as a branch of the mother organization, maintains in the Orient, several countries had delegates. Missionaries from Korea, India, China and Japan were listed among those present for the foreign service session, and ministers from various parts of the United States, including Dr. M. P. Burns of Philadelphia, secretary of the board of missions.

1000 IN ATTENDANCE.

In all some 250 pastors and over 750 laymen were in attendance at the various meetings which lasted throughout the week during morning, afternoon and evening hours.

Beyond the business and purely devotional affairs which were included in the week's program, political speeches and addresses by persons locally well known and prominent visitors that touched upon phases of church work which are allied with national and international political movements, furnished the high lights for the conference.

Dr. David P. Barrows, president of the University of California, was one of those who addressed the meetings, his subject being "Europe Revisited," in which he condemned Bolshevism as the menace of Europe, and pleaded for American support of England as the means of saving Europe at the present time and stabilizing the various trends of power among the continental nations.

BOLSHEVISM SCORED

George D. Kellog, department commander for the Grand Army of the Republic, who is at present attending the Grand Army encampment at Indianapolis, wrote a lengthy letter on Americanism to the meeting devoted to the veterans of the Civil War which are organized separately under the conference for meetings. Kellog, who was to have been present, delivered his message by mail from the train, and held "100 per cent Americanism" as his ideal for Methodism, scoring Bolshevism and other radical movements in the country.

CHAPLAIN SPEAKS

Chaplain Paul Little of the Wesley church of Richmond and vice-commander of the American Legion post of that city outlined the problems of the Legion before the church members, and Chaplain H. H. Case of Hollister, telling of his experiences with the American Expeditionary Forces in France, followed the order of the day with regard to world affairs and the church.

Bishop Adna W. Leonard, head of the California area for the church, in his devotional address delivered argument against the Soviet government in Russia and concluded the political discussions.

Other matters of note which came before the conference was a discussion of the proposed moving of the College of the Pacific to Oakland or Stockton, at which Oakland was definitely eliminated as a possible site. Business and executive sessions comprised for the most part the morning meetings throughout. Several occasions were devoted to reports of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the church with Mrs. Adna W. Leonard, wife of Bishop Leonard, presiding.

26 MISSIONARIES

At present, according to the reports, the church has twenty-six missionaries in the field. Former local residents and residents of nearby cities which are engaged in the foreign field work are Elizabeth Marvin and Grace Wythe, whose stations are in China and Japan respectively; Evelyn Baugh of Petaluma whose post is likewise in China and who has been visiting the conference here; Grace Barstow of Petaluma and Mary Ames Hart of San Francisco.

A conference session today, which included in the order of business the reading of appointments, brought the conference to its adjournment.

That there is as much possibility of the moving of the site of the College of the Pacific to Oakland as to another city was the statement today of Dr. Tully Knowles, president of the college at San Jose, who has been visiting the conference. Several days ago when the matter of a new location for the school was discussed before the conference, it was understood that Oakland had been definitely eliminated.

As the matter now stands, according to Dr. Knowles, the board of trustees has been empowered to fix a new site and move the college to a suitable place when a campus location and $5000 have been raised for that purpose.

COAL MINERS TO STRIKE.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Robert Smillie, head of the Federation of Miners, reported to the miners' executive committee today that his recent conferences with Sir Robert Horne, president of the Board of Trade, had not developed anything which would justify the hopes that the national coal strike would be prevented. The strike is scheduled to begin Sunday.

Buick

Buick Leadership Increased by the New 1921 Models

Popularity is a word that has been associated with the Buick the last twenty years. To have endured through these two decades, that popularity must have been well earned.

But Buick popularity has more than endured. It has increased with each succeeding year. More than a half-million Buicks now are in daily service. In California the Buick registrations lead all other makes with the exception of one car selling for less than $800.

The greatest Buick triumph, however, is found in the new 1921 models now being displayed in San Francisco—this latest Buick creation is further increasing the Buick leadership.

It's the greatest Buick ever built!

Club Urges Juvenile Court Woman Referee

By EDNA B. KINARD

Wanted—a woman referee! Such is the plea of Oakland Federation of Mothers' clubs through the juvenile court and probation committee, of which Mrs L E Phillips is chairman. Down Los Angeles way such an officer has come into high favor and helped solve considerable of the perplexity which overhangs this branch of judicial work. Not long ago Oakland center, California Civic League, drew public attention to the fact that judges in local juvenile court had no certain tenure of office and at that time when a man was becoming interested in the task and trained in knowledge of its peculiar duties, he was transferred to another department the young offenders losing by reason of the necessary adjustment which must be made by his successor.

A woman referee is the substitute for the elected judge. She hears the cases of the youngsters who come within the jurisdiction of the juvenile department, investigates their pleas and recommends their fate. Social service groups throughout the state are giving particular attention to this latest development in judicial matters The Oakland federation has afforded a hearing to the plea of Mrs Phillips to inaugurate a movement for the purpose of appointing such an officer in Alameda county

"Regularity plus promptness plus application equals results" is the equation which has been adopted this year in the parliamentary law section of Oakland Center, California Civic League of which Mrs Mary Merrill is leader "Get Knowledge to Give Knowledge" is the pithy motto which the class has hung high in its lecture room.

When Mrs Merrill announced that she would limit the civic league section to 15 members: that she would demand as sole compensation for her services regular attendance, faithful study and promptness that did not falter from the 10.30 a. m. hour which was set, she understood that she was launching upon a reactionary course But the women who were really in earnest to acquire proficiency in the parliamentary art instead of being dismayed at the rigid regulations which were propounded, rallied to the standard and instead of the valiant 15, 36 sought to sign their names to the membership roll

Although the section was organized but a week ago the limit was overtopped by five and it still is growing, witnessing that discipline does, after all pay Each understands that if for lesser matters than death or jury duty, the rules are broken, it is their swan song in class The next meeting is scheduled for Friday morning at Hotel Oakland.

Mrs L G Leonard has undertaken to lead a beginners' section in a knowledge of parliamentary usage, naming the meeting hour for 1.30 p m on the second and fourth Fridays of each month preceding the regular program of the center. This week will initiate the class.

Training speakers to spread the propaganda for the community property law and an affirmative vote on No 13 on the November ballot, is among the tasks which Mrs E. S [illegible] Public Speaking section Discussion of current events and practice in catching an audience's interest are programmed for the year.

Women have plenty of things to say these days and have not faltered in their task of acquiring the art of saying them in the best and most convincing way The Twentieth Century Club has come forward to announce one of the newest courses in public speaking, claiming for its instructor, Miss Jean Campbell MacMillan, one of the club's newest members affiliated with the University of California Extension department, who has returned after a summer of intensive work in Columbia University

The Berkeley club has set a new precedent in opening membership in this particular section to non-members and to invite those who are shy of participating in the actual work to become auditors Wednesday morning, October 6 has been scheduled for the opening of the course of ten lectures, which will conclude on December 8 Mrs. Stanley Pedder is chairman of this branch of club work

The reception which was to have been given by Washington Parent-Teacher Association in honor of the teachers in the kindergarten and first grades on Wednesday has been put over for a month The newest date for the community party which will be one of the elaborate events in early season is Wednesday, October 27

With the appointment of department chairmen, the work of the University Mothers' Club has been fully organized for the new semester Mrs E M Elliott, president, has named Mrs. R L Berteaux to the chairmanship of the sewing and mending committee, with the announcement that this body will meet on Wednesdays at Mrs Berteaux's home, 2213 Union street. Mrs Thomas Parker Boyd is the year's membership chairman with Mrs. McMillan in charge of the Student Loan fund.

Issues of the day will be discussed by Congressman Elston at the October meeting of the club.

A gay party was held yesterday by the Hill and Valley Club of Hayward at Daisy Farm Inn, ushering in a delightfully new custom with the September feast. Mrs Bessie Wood Gustason was among the speakers on the program, presenting the community property issue of the November election.

Women of Middle Age

Owing to modern methods of living not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change in her life without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms. Those dreadful hot flashes, smothering spells, fainting spells, nervous troubles and irregularities are symptoms that should have prompt attention. These two letters prove what a successful remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is for women at this time of life.

These Two Women Helped During Change of Life.

Taunton, Mass.—"I could not eat or sleep for six months, had fainting spells and could not walk without help for three months, caused by female trouble. My cousin, who was a doctor, told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me greatly. Then during the Change of Life I used the same remedy. I am seventy years old now and am able to do my own housework and walk one mile to church every Sunday morning and evening. I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to my friends having the same troubles as I had. Your remedy is the best on earth. I cannot find words to express my gratitude for it."—Mrs. SUSAN C. STAPLES, 157 B School St., Taunton, Mass.

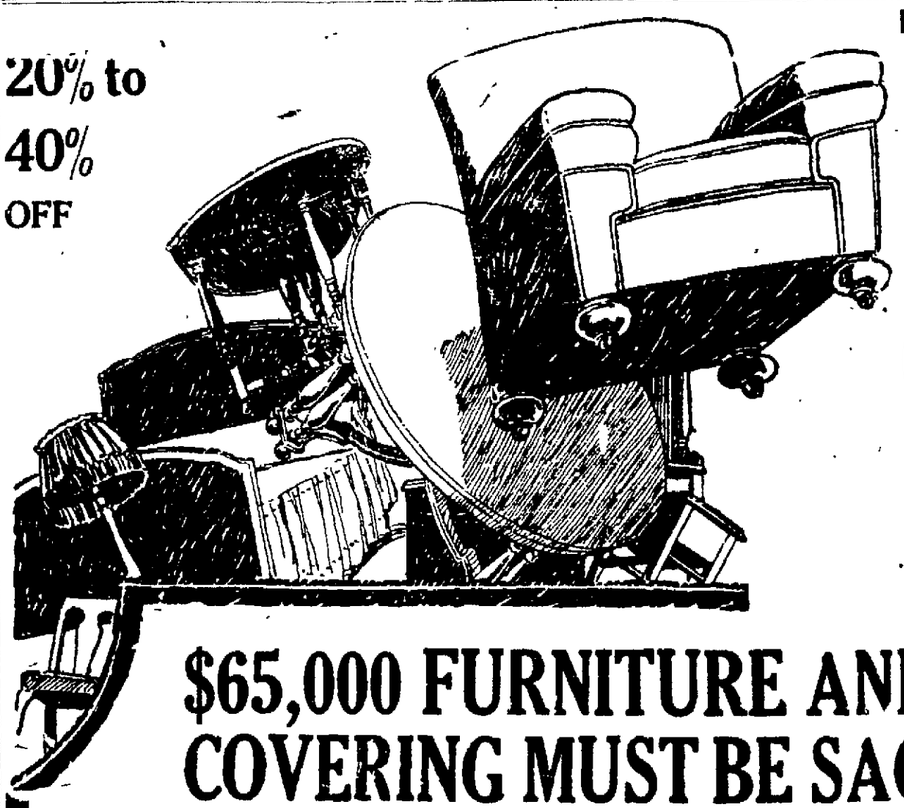

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I want to let you know what good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. I had organic troubles and am going through the Change of Life. I was taken with a pain in my side and a bad headache. I could not lie down, could not eat or sleep. I suffered something terrible and the doctor's medicine did me no good at all—my pains got worse instead of better. I began taking the Vegetable Compound and felt a change from the first. Now I feel fine and advise any one going through the Change of Life to try it, for it cured me after I had given up all hopes of getting better. I will tell any one who writes to me the good it has done me."—Mrs. MARGARET DANZ, 743 N. 25th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Workman's Policies Become Popular

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—Unless corporate insurance companies change their method of operations materially, they cannot compete indefinitely in the field of workmen's compensation insurance, C. W. Fellows, manager of the Compensation Insurance Fund of the State of California, said in a paper presented to the seventh annual meeting of the International Association of Industrial Accidents Board and Commissions today.

"Conservatively estimated, the state compensation insurance fund of California is today carrying 40 per cent of the insured compensation business of the state," Fellows said. "Its net premium writings in 1919 were approximately 35 per cent of the total for all carriers, and the business of the fund for the current year will probably exceed $4,000,000 in premiums."

Alameda Moose to Take Wife Tonight

The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Dr. E. E. Dille. Following the wedding a supper will be served.

Risley is the son of Mrs. Jane Risley, 1304 Pearl street, and is one of the best known young men in Alameda.

PETERSEN SALARY WAITS ON VOTE

The City Council, after hearing statements by Commissioner Morse and City Attorney Hagan on the subject, this morning decided to hold the matter of Captain of Inspectors Walter J. Petersen's salary over until there can be a full Council.

Commissioners Edwards and Baccus are on their vacations.

Commissioner Morse, who last Friday refused to vote or comment on the Petersen salary, today handed the City Clerk a statement which was read in public.

An opinion by the city attorney followed, advising Commissioner Morse that while Petersen was reinstated by the Appellate Court in his office, he was not legally entitled to that office in the foirst place. Hagan pointed that the higher courts did not touch this subject, but simply restored him to office "de facto at the time." Some of Hagan's opinion was as follows:

HAS NO TITLE

"If Petersen has lost his Civil Service standing, as you contend, then he has no legal title to the office and would not acquire one under the mandate of the court issued in this case. If you believe he has lost his Civil Service standing there would be no legal warrant for approving his claim of salary.

"In my opinion the write of mandate does not direct the payment of back salary to Petersen, or determine that he is legally entitled thereto. You would not be protected in paying the back salary if it is not legally due; furthermore, I believe Petersen has no title to the office because he lost his Civil Service standing.

"I believe you might be responsible for misconduct in the event it is ultimately found that no back salary is due Petersen, if you should approve his salary claim."

Petersen, who did not arrive at the City Hall in time for the Council meeting, was vehement when interviewed on the subject.

"Hagan and Morse seem to think they are above the law," charged Petersen.

TO FORCE VOTE

"This thing is going to a vote in the Council. I'll make 'em vote. I want them on record. They have to vote."

Morse's statement to the Council was in part as follows:

"I have constantly taken, and still take, the position that Petersen is not legally in the Civil Service of the city. If I were now to vote in favor of approving his salary claim I would stultify myself in one of the positions I have taken in my second order of discharge, namely, that he is not in the Civil Service.

"This question was not passed upon in the case ordering his reinstatement, and I desire to have a determination of it, free from the contention that I had previously taken the position that he was in the Civil Service by voting for this salary claim."

15 PERMITS ISSUED

Tribune Newsboys Will Hear Famous Stage Star in Pantages

Noodles Fagan, Once a Street Hustler in New York, to Give Youths Fun, Advice

"NOODLES" FAGAN, who will talk to TRIBUNE newsies and carrier boys from the stage of the Pantages Theater two nights this week.

Two nights this week will find large blocks of seats in the Pantages theater occupied by TRIBUNE paper boys, who will be there not only to enjoy the show, but to sit at the feet of one of the most famous newsboys. Noodles Fagan, for whom newspaper selling has brought station and fortune and who now goes about with Mrs. Fagan and little Mary Fagan, 8 years old, entertaining and preaching a gospel of good citizenship.

Wednesday night it will be the night of The TRIBUNE newsies, boys who are following the very employment that Noodles so long followed. Noodles will enlarge his act and talk to the boys and sing them extra songs, while little Mary will dance and Mrs. Noodles will help in the entertainment.

Thursday night the carrier boys whose work is akin to that of the newsies, but who form a separate division will go to the Pantages as a body. Of the two groups, none will be admitted without a TRIBUNE tag.

Plenty of seats will be reserved for the boys, for the occasion of the visit of Noodles Fagan is a very special one.

At the luncheon next week the speaker will be Commissioner of Corporations E. C. Bellows, according to announcement of F. H. Woodward, secretary of the club.

COUPON MACHINE O. K., SAYS COURT

Holding that the machine in question is an automatic vendor of merchandise and not a gambling device, Acting Police Court Judge Ralph V. Richmond this morning dismissed charges against Manuel M. Cabrel and Gene Stackler, two Oakland merchants, who were taken into custody several days ago while operating a gum machine at 701 Washington street.

Attorney William H. Hynes brought to the attention of the court decisions from the Appellate Court and the Superior Court, rendered in Stockton and Sacramento, that the machines were simply vendors of merchandise, issuing coupons, and therefore could not be construed as gambling devices. He also directed the attention of the court to the fact that the machines questioned in Oakland were operating without hindrance in San Francisco, other portions of Alameda county and Contra Costa county, and stated that Cabrel, the owner of the state rights, was prepared to bring the case to the Superior Court if necessary.

The charges against the pair were brought under state legislation making gambling a misdemeanor, but Hynes produced copies of state legislation expressly excluding automatic vendors of this type from the scope of the act. He also mentioned that sixteen charges brought against Cabrel in the same instance had been dismissed in Stockton and Fairfield. The machines are now classified with match-vending machines and candy-vending machines as installed in local theaters.

Hydroplane Assured Lake Merritt Crowds

Final disposition of the project for operating a hydroplane from the Grand avenue boathouse at Lake Merritt will be made Thursday morning at a meeting of the park directors who, it is said, favor the plan not only for its revenue but as an advertisement for the lake.

The operator of the airplane will take up two persons at a time at a price of $10 per person. The city will receive a percentage of the gross. If decided upon, the airplane will come to Lake Merritt immediately.

The question of damage liability will be a paramount one and it is asserted that the owner of the hydroplane must assume all risks of this sort. This is the one element which has caused hesitation on the part of the playground directors.

BRAVE U. S.-SCOT WEDS LASSIE OF HIS CHILDHOOD

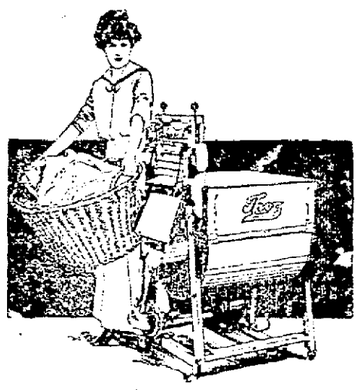

Journeying all the way from Scotland to wed her childhood sweetheart, Miss Margaret W. Boden became the bride of Alexander Hamilton at her new home, 70 Hamilton place, Hamilton came to America several years ago from Scotland. At the outbreak of the war he joined the American forces.

After months of fighting, he obtained a furlough, visited his old home and again met the Scottish lassie who had been his playmate. The betrothal was sealed before he sailed with his company for the United States, with the understanding that his fiancee should later rejoin him in California.

A few days ago the girl reached this city. Hamilton is an employee of the Standard Oil Company.

Return Is Made to Court of Stock Sale

In compliance with an order of the superior court, W. H. Talbot today reported that he had sold property belonging to the estate of Frederick C. EXCESSIVE MEAT EATING

Most people who are troubled with flatulency eat more meat than is good for them. Flatulency is wind on the stomach. Excessive meat eating or defective nerve force is responsible in most cases.

Cutting down the amount of meat in your diet and taking a course of treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to strengthen the weak nerves that control the digestive processes is well worth trying if you have wind on the stomach, sour risings in the throat, a feeling of weakness in the stomach and palpitation of the heart. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are recommended for thin blood and weak nerves, whatever the cause.

Send today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the free book, "What to Eat and How to Eat." It gives information regarding the tonic treatment for many forms of stomach trouble. There cannot be perfect digestion without a sufficient supply of red blood and there is nothing better than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to enrich the blood and tone up the stomach.

Your own druggist can supply you with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., postpaid, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box.—Advertisement.

Fat Folks Read This Story

Recently, in the city of Chicago, a prominent man, burdened with excessive fat, went upon the operating table and had over sixty pounds of flesh carved from his huge, cumbersome body. Years ago the formula for fat reduction was "diet"—"exercise." Today it is "Take Marmola Prescription Tablets." Friends tell friends—doctors tell their patients, until thousands know and use this convenient, harmless method. They eat what they like, live as they like, and still lose their two, three or four pounds of fat a week. Simple, effective, harmless Marmola Prescription Tablets are sold by all druggists—a good size box for one dollar. Or if you prefer you may write direct to the Marmola Company, 93 Garfield Building, Detroit, Mich.

An O. Henry Story a day
HUMOR — PATHOS — ROMANCE

II—Cabbages and Kings

Copyright, 1920, by Doubleday, Page & Co. Published by special arrangement with the Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

Coralio reclined in the mid-day heat, like some vacuous beauty lounging in a guarded harem. The town lay at the sea's edge on a strip of alluvial coast. It was set like a little pearl in an emerald band. Behind it, and seeming almost to topple imminent, above it, rose the sea following range of the Cordilleras. In front the sea was spread, a smiling jailer, but even more incorruptible than the frowning mountains. The waves swished along the smooth beach; the parrots screamed in the orange and ceiba-trees; the palms waved their limber fronds foolishly like an awkward chorus at the prima donna's cue to enter.

Suddenly the town was full of excitement. A native boy dashed down a grass-grown street, shrieking: "Busca el Senor Goodwin. Ha venido un telegrafo por el!"

The word passed quickly. Telegrams do not often come to any one in Coralio. The cry for Senor Goodwin was taken up by a dozen officious voices. The main street running parallel to the beach became populated with those who desired to expedite the delivery of the despatch. Knots of women with complexions varying from palest olive to deepest brown gathered at street corners and plaintively carolled: "Un telegrafo por Senor Goodwin!" The comandante, Don Senor el Coronel Encarnacion Rios, who was loyal to the Ins and suspected Goodwin's devotion to the Outs, hissed: "Aha!" and wrote in his secret memorandum book the accusive fact that Senor Goodwin had on that momentous date received a telegram.

In the midst of the hullabaloo a man stepped to the door of a small wooden building and looked out. Above the door was a sign that read "Keogh and Clancy"—a nomenclature that seemed not to be indigenous to that tropical soil. The man in the door was Billy Keogh, scout of fortune and progress and latter-day rover of the Spanish Main. Tintypes and photographs were the weapons with which Keogh and Clancy were at that time assailing the hopeless shores. Outside the shop were set two large frames filled with specimens of their art and skill.

Keogh leaned in the doorway, his bold and humorous countenance wearing a look of interest at the unusual influx of life and sound into the street. When the meaning of the disturbance became clear to him he placed a hand beside his mouth and shouted: "Hey! Frank!" in such a robustious voice that the feeble clamor of the natives was drowned and silenced.

Fifty yards away, on the seaward side of the street, stood the abode of the consul for the United States. Out from the door of this building tumbled Goodwin at the call. He had been smoking with Willard Geddie, the consul, on the back porch of the consulate, which was conceded to be the coolest spot in Coralio.

"Hurry up," shouted Keogh. "There's a riot in town on account of a telegram that's come for you. You want to be careful about these things, my boy. It won't do to trifle with the feelings of the public this way. You'll be getting a pink note some day with violet scent on it; and the country'll be steeped in the throes of a revolution."

Goodwin had strolled up the street and met the boy with the message. The ox-eyed women gazed at him with shy admiration, for his type drew them. He was big, blonde, and jauntily dressed in white linen, with buckskin zapatos. His manner was courtly, with a sort of kindly truculence in it, tempered by a merciful eye. When the telegram had been delivered, and the bearer of it dismissed with a gratuity, the relieved populace returned to the contiguities of shade from which curiosity had drawn it—the women to their baking in the mud ovens under the orange trees, or to the interminable combing of their long, straight hair the men to their cigarettes and gossip in the cantinas.

Goodwin sat on Keogh's doorstep and read his telegram. It was from Bob Englehart, an American, who lived in San Mateo, the capital city of Anchuria, eighty miles in the interior. Englehart was a gold miner, an ardent revolutionist and "good people." That he was a man of resource and imagination was proven by the telegram he had sent. It had been his task to send a confidential message to his friend in Coralio. This could not have been accomplished in either Spanish or English, for the eye politic in Anchuria was an active one. The Ins and the Outs were perpetually on their guard. But Englehart was a diplomatist. There existed but one code upon which he might make requisition with promise of safety—the great and potent code of Slang. So, here is the message that slipped unconstrued through the fingers of curious officials, and came to the eye of Goodwin:

"His Nibs skedaddled yesterday per jack-rabbit line with all the coin in the kitty and the bundle of muslin he's spoony about. The boodle is six figures short. Our crowd in good shape but we need the spondulicks. You collar it. The main guy and the dry goods are headed for the briny. You know what to do. BOB."

This screed, remarkable as it was, had no mystery for Goodwin. He was the most successful of the small advance guard of speculative Americans that had invaded Anchuria, and he had not reached that enviable pinnacle without having well exercised the arts of foresight and deduction. He had taken up political intrigue as a matter of business. He was acute enough to wield a certain influence among the leading schemers, and he was prosperous enough to be able to purchase the respect of the petty officeholders. There was always a revolutionary party; and to it he had always allied himself, for the adherents of a new administration received the rewards of their labors. There was now a Liberal party seeking to overturn President Miraflores. If the wheel successfully revolved, Goodwin stood to win a concession to 30,000 manzanas of the finest coffee lands in the interior. Certain incidents in the recent career of President Miraflores [illegible] suspicion in Goodwin's mind that the government was near a dissolution from another cause than that of a revolution, and now Englehart's telegram had come as a corroboration of his wisdom.

The telegram, which had remained unintelligible to the Anchurian linguists who had applied to it in vain their knowledge of Spanish and elemental English, conveyed a stimulating piece of news to Goodwin's understanding. It informed him that the president of the republic had decamped from the capital city with the contents of the treasury. Furthermore, that he was accompanied in his flight by that winning adventuress Isabel Guilbert, the opera singer, whose troupe of performers had been entertained by the president at San Mateo during the past month on a scale less modest than that which royal visitors are often content. The reference to the "jack-rabbit line" could mean nothing else than the mule-back system of transport that prevailed between Coralio and the capital. The hint that the "boodle" was "six figures short" made the condition of the national treasury lamentably clear. Also it was convincingly true that the ingoing party—its way now made a pacific one—would need the "spondulicks." Unless its pledges should be fulfilled, and the spoils held for the delectation of the victors, precarious indeed, would be the position of the new government. Therefore it was exceedingly necessary to "collar the main guy," and recapture the sinews of war and government.

Goodwin handed the message to Keogh.

"Read that, Billy," he said. "It's from Bob Englehart. Can you manage the cipher?"

Keogh sat in the other half of the doorway, and carefully perused the telegram.

"'Tis not a cipher," he said, finally. "'Tis what they call literature, and that's a system of language put in the mouths of people that they've never been introduced to by writers of imagination. The magazines invented it, but I never knew before that President Norvin Green had stamped it with the seal of his approval. 'Tis now no longer literature, but language. The dictionaries tried, but they couldn't make it go for anything but dialect. Sure, now that the Western Union indorses it, it won't be long till a race of people will spring up that speaks it."

"You're running too much to philology, Billy," said Goodwin. "Do you make out the meaning of it?"

"Sure," replied the philosopher of Fortune. "All languages come easy to the man who must know 'em. I've even failed to misunderstand an order to evacuate in classical Chinese when it was backed up by the muzzle of a breech-loader. This little literary essay I hold in my hands means a game of Fox-in-the-Morning. Ever play that, Frank, when you was a kid?"

"I think so," said Goodwin, laughing. "You join hands all 'round, and—"

"You do not," interrupted Keogh. "You've got a fine sporting game mixed up in your head with 'All Around the Rosebush.' The spirit of 'Fox-in-the-Morning' is opposed to the holding of hands. I'll tell you how it's played. This president man and his companion in play, they stand up over in San Mateo, ready for the run, and shout: 'Fox-in-the-Morning!' Me and you, standing here, we say: 'Goose and the Gander!' They say: 'How many miles is it to London town?' We say: 'Only a few, if your legs are long enough. How many comes out?' They say: 'More than you're able to catch.' And then the game commences."

"I catch the idea," said Goodwin. "It won't do to let the goose and gander slip through our fingers, Billy; their feathers are too valuable. Our crowd is prepared and able to step into the shoes of the government at once; but with the treasury empty we'd stay in power about as long as a tenderfoot would stick on an untamed bronco. We must play the fox on every foot of the coast to prevent their getting out of the country."

"By the mule-back schedule," said Keogh, "it's five days down from San Mateo. We've got plenty of time to set our outposts. There's only three places on the coast where they can hope to sail from—here and Solitas and Alazan. They're the only points we'll have to guard. It's as easy as a chess problem—fox to play, and mate in three moves. Oh, goosey, goosey, gander, whither do you wander? By the blessing of the literary telegraph the boodle of this benighted fatherland shall be preserved to the honest political party that is seeking to overthrow it."

The situation had been justly outlined by Keogh. The down trail from the capital was at all times a weary road to travel. A jiggety-joggety journey it was; ice-cold and hot, wet and dry. The trail climbed appalling mountains, wound like a rotten string about the brows of breathless precipices, plunged through chilling snow-fed streams, and wriggled like a snake through sunless forests teeming with menacing insect and animal life. After descending to the foothills it turned to a trident, the central prong ending at Alazan. Another branched off to Coralio; the third penetrated to Solitas. Between the sea and the foothills stretched the five miles breadth of alluvial coast. Here was the flora of the tropics in its rankest and most prodigal growth. Spaces here and there had been wrested from the jungle and planted with bananas and cane and orange groves. The rest was a riot of wild vegetation, the home of monkeys, tapirs, jaguars, alligators and prodigious reptiles and insects. Where no road was cut a serpent could scarcely make its way through the tangle of vines and creepers. Across the treacherous mangrove swamps few things without wings could safely pass. Therefore the fugitive could hope to reach the coast only by one of the routes named.

"Keep the matter quiet, Billy," advised Goodwin. "We don't want the Ins to know that the president is in flight. I suppose Bob's information is something of a scoop in the capital as yet. Otherwise he would not have tried to make his message a confidential one; and besides, everybody would have heard the news. I'm going around now to see Dr. Zavalla, and start a man up the trail to cut the telegraph wire."

As Goodwin rose, Keogh threw his hat upon the grass by the door and expelled a tremendous sigh.

"What's the trouble, Billy?" asked Goodwin, pausing. "That's the first time I ever heard you sigh."

"'Tis the last," said Keogh. "With that sorrowful puff of wind I resign myself to a life of praiseworthy but harrassing honesty. What are tintypes, if you please, to the opportunities of the great and hilarious class of ganders and geese? Not that I would be a president, Frank—and the boodle he's got is too big for me to handle—but in some ways I feel my conscience hurting me for addicting myself to photographing a nation instead of running away with it. Frank, did you ever see the 'bundle of muslin' that His Excellency has wrapped up and carried off?"

"Isabel Guilbert?" said Goodwin, laughing. "No, I never did. From what I've heard of her, though, I imagine that she wouldn't stick at anything to carry her point. Don't get romantic, Billy. Sometimes I begin to fear that there's Irish blood in your ancestry."

"I never saw her either," went on Keogh, "but they say she's got all the ladies of mythology, sculpture and fiction reduced to chromos. They say she can look at a man once, and he'll turn monkey and climb trees to pick cocoanuts for her. Think of that president man with Lord knows how many hundreds of thousands of dollars in one hand, and this muslin siren in the other, galloping down hill on a sympathetic mule amid song-birds and flowers! And here is Billy Keogh, because he is virtuous, condemned to the unprofitable swindle of slandering the faces of missing links on tin for an honest living! 'Tis an injustice of nature."

"Cheer up," said Goodwin. "You are a pretty poor fox to be envying a gander. Maybe the enchanting Guilbert will take a fancy to you and your tintypes after we impoverish her royal escort."

"She could do worse," reflected Keogh, "but she won't. 'Tis not a tintype gallery, but the gallery of the gods that she's fitted to adorn. She's a very wicked lady and the president man is in luck. But I hear Clancy swearing in the back room for having to do all the work." And Keogh plunged for the rear of the "gallery," whistling gaily in a spontaneous way that belied his recent sigh over the questionable good luck of the flying president.

Goodwin turned from the main street into a much narrower one that intersected it at a right angle.

These side streets were covered by a growth of thick, rank grass, which was kept to a navigable shortness by the machetes of the police. Stone sidewalks, little more than a ledge in width, ran along the base of the mean and monotonous adobe houses. At the outskirts of the village these streets dwindled to nothing; and here were set the palm-thatched huts of the Caribs and the poorer natives, and the shabby cabins of negroes from Jamaica and the West India islands. A few structures raised their heads above the red-tiled roofs of the one-story houses—the bell tower of the Calaboza, the Hotel de los Estranjeros, the residence of the Vesuvius Fruit Company's agent, the store and residence of Bernard Brannigan, a ruined cathedral in which Columbus had once set foot and, most imposing of all, the Casa Morena—the summer "White House" of the President of Anchuria. On the principal street running along the beach—the Broadway of Coralio—were the larger stores, the government bodega and postoffice, the cuartel, the rum-shop and the market place.

On his way Goodwin passed the house of Bernard Brannigan. It was a modern wooden building, two stories in height. The ground floor was occupied by Brannigan's store, the upper one contained the living apartments. A wide cool porch ran around the house half way up its outer walls. A handsome, vivacious girl neatly dressed in flowing white leaned over the railing and smiled down upon Goodwin. She was no darker than many an Andalusian of high descent; and she sparkled and glowed like a tropical moonlight.

"Good evening, Miss Paula," said Goodwin, taking off his hat, with his ready smile. There was little difference in his manner whether he addressed women or men. Everybody in Coralio liked to receive the salutation of the big American.

"Is there any news, Mr. Goodwin? Please don't say no. Isn't it warm? I feel just like Mariana in her moated grange—or was it a range?—it's hot enough."

"No, there's no news to tell, I believe," said Goodwin, with a mischievous look in his eye, "except that old Geddie is getting grumpier and crosser every day. If something doesn't happen to relieve his mind I'll have to quit smoking on his back porch—and there's no other place available that is cool enough."

"He isn't grumpy," said Paula Brannigan, impulsively, "when he—"

But she ceased suddenly, and drew back with a deepening color, for her mother had been a mestizo lady, and the Spanish blood had brought to Paula a certain shyness that was an adornment to the other half of her demonstrative nature.

Japan Exports Huge Sugar Stocks to U. S.

TOKYO, Aug. 24. — In connection with the high price of sugar in the United States, it is remarked here that approximately 100,000 tons of sugar held in warehouses in Tokyo, Yokohama and elsewhere, have been exported to the United States since the financial depression began in Japan. The shipments consisted of 15,000 tons of white crystallized sugar, 20,000 tons of Formosan centrifugals and 65,000 tons of Java sugar, held by wholesale merchants and sugar companies.

It is said that there still remains a large stock of centrifugals and refined sugar in the warehouses throughout the country.

The Letters of Tessie and Joe

Joe is a traveling salesman. Tessie is his loving wife. Follow their letters in The OAKLAND TRIBUNE

DEAR TESSIE:

Day before yesterday if anbody had asked me if I favored a League of Nations I'd of said No, capital No. But if anybody happens to ask me today (I don't remember anybody asking me—maybe they got it figured out that my opinion might not make much difference in the result one way or the other), anyway, if anybody does I'll say, Sure, by all manners of means.

It come about this way, Tessie. Yesterday afternoon a sort of an intuition came over me that constitution needed a drink of whiskey. I wandered in the town drug store and kept winking at the one horse druggist till he finally volunteered to take the cinder out of my eye. So I decided to try the doctor. "Doc," I told him, "I got chills and fever and my pulse is giving me a good deal of pain and my old lumbago has been sending me ultimatums and the ear that was frostbit when I was a boy is crying for warmth and nourishment. My system needs whiskey, doc."

Well Tessie I argued with that homeopathic hard boiled bird for the best part of an hour. He offered me my choice of any pill he had in the place, but I told him with tears in my eyes that my heart was set on a certain prescription and a sick man ought to be humored and my fever was getting worse and my chills were still the same and there wasn't no time to lose. I tried everything from logic to bribery without no avail, until just when I was going down for the third time I grabbed at a passing straw as a drowning man always will. "Doc," I said, "are you by any possible faint chance a member of the Occult Order of Ostriches?"

"You don't mean to tell me you're a brother Ostrich!" he cries out. And we give each other the Occult handshake and exchange the Occult passwords that I've never so much as breathed to you, Tessie, though you know everything else about me by some hook or crook, and in five minutes' time time I had the prescription clutched fondly to my heart and was on my way to the drug store as blithe as a landlord. And the point is, Tessie, the vow of the O. O. of Ostriches to aid fellow Ostriches in distress done what force and prayers and appeals to reason couldn't do, so maybe after all, as I realize now from bitter experience, some kind of a League of Nations might do a lot of good. Aff

JOE.

MY HEART AND MY HUSBAND

FURTHER REVELATIONS OF A WIFE
by ADELE GARRISON

"In the second place," she drew down the corners of her mouth with a rueful expression, "in the event that Mr. Stockbridge refuses permission, and we have to open it ourselves, I am afraid I shall have to call in another friend of yours. The corner of my brain which ought to house an understanding of mechanism is perpetually for rent unfurnished. I can't open a simple lock with the key in position. It's Allen Drake who's the original white-haired boy in that direction. He's the lad with the gimlet eyes which can bore through the most complicated mechanism, secret or open, that was ever devised."

"Allen Drake!" I echoed with a start not exactly of dismay, but which held something of that emotion in it.

Lilian gave me a quick, shrewd glance, then looked away again tactfully. I was furious to find myself flushing not only at her involuntary comprehending glance, but at a vivid memory I had of my last meeting with Allen Drake, when he had so signally aided me in the final vanquishing of the woman who was threatening the peace of my father's old age.

A SURPRISING INTERRUPTION

There is no other person in the world who affects me in such contradictory fashion as does Allen Drake. He has the faculty of arousing in me furious resentment by his lordly attitude toward feminine intelligence in general and mine in particular—or so I fancy when I am with him. And then, with a most unexpected little turn of his mood he proves himself the gentlest, most considerate of cavaliers, lavishing all his wonderful skill and experience in my service. At one moment I am sure I detest him thoroughly. The next I am forced to wondering, remorseful admiration and liking for him.

"But finding that secret drawer is a problem of some weeks to come, not for now," Lillian went on, exactly as if her remark concerning Allen Drake, and my ejaculation had never been spoken. "I suppose you are wondering," she went on, "why the urgency of getting the desk here if we didn't intend to try to open it.

"That's simply because I don't want it around where Mr. Stockbridge's enemies can get hold of it. They may not be strong on secret mechanism, but they're probably sharks with axes, and that would be about the first thing that would occur to them, to smash the thing to pieces, always provided they had received a hint that something might be concealed within it. And with those telephone girls and their knowledge—the devil alone knows how much they've heard—in the offing, it's dangerous to leave anything like this in any place that's known.

"But I think, my dear, that we've successfully turned the trick, and the desk can stand here for weeks to come whether we're here or not, without fear of discovery. So now, suppose we forget all about it, and turn our attention to the kind of clothes we'll need out at the east end of the island."

I turned to her with laughing protest, underneath which lay a stratum of truth.

"Your brain works so fast it dazzles me," I said. "You'll have to give me time to bring my scattered faculties together. This jump from secret mechanisms in desks to clothes is too much for me."

"What's the melodrama?" drawled Dicky's voice at the door. "Secret mechanisms in desks? This sounds interesting. Do you refer to this very prosaic piece of furniture which evidently has been moved in since I left a few hours ago?"

I think Lillian was as startled as I at Dicky's drawled interruption to our colloquy over Kenneth Stockbridge's desk which Jim had just smuggled into the house. He had said that he did not know when he would be home, and I fancy we both had unconsciously counted upon his staying away the whole evening.

Although I had confided to Dicky something of my worries in connection with the mystery surrounding the death of Milly Stockbridge, I knew—and the knowledge was shared by Lillian—that it was highly desirable he should know nothing of this desk of Kenneth Stockbridge's with its secret mechanism until its secret was no longer a menace to the cause of the imprisoned principal.

QUICK THINKING

Dicky's garrulity, while much less in evidence than before his service in the aviation corps, must still be reckoned with. And the most provoking feature of Dicky's talkativeness is the fact that he is always perfectly sure that he has said nothing he should not, and becomes highly incensed when proof of imprudent speech is laid before him.

HIS FRIENDS ARE NOW TAKING IT

"There are at least a half a dozen of my friends who began taking Tanlac after seeing the wonderful good this medicine did me," said John C. Neal, residing at 567 East 54th Street, Los Angeles, and employed by the Hoffman Hardware Co.

"I wasn't what you would exactly call sick," continued Mr. Neal, "but I was far from being well. For over a year I had been in a rundown condition. I didn't have much energy about me, and just dragged along from day to day feeling weak and lifeless. My back ached nearly all the time and I was troubled a lot with headaches, and I couldn't do my work justice. I didn't enjoy eating like other people. I just needed something to build me up, and when I heard so much about Tanlac I decided to try it.

"Well, the money I spent for Tanlac was the best investment I ever made in my life, for now after taking five bottles of it I feel like a brand new man. I have a good ap- [illegible] me perfectly. I sleep like a log every night and I get out of bed every morning feeling just great, and I am much stronger and my work is a pleasure to me now instead of a drag. I am never bothered with pains in my back or headaches now—in fact, I feel fine in every way. I just seemed to have taken a new lease on life. I am recommending Tanlac to all my friends."

Tanlac is sold in San Francisco and Oakland by the Owl Drug Company Stores and Eberly's Quality Pharmacy, Alameda. — Advertisement.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.—Advertisement.

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are hard of hearing or have head noises, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.—Advertisement.

The Why of the "Y" Campaign

For over forty years the Young Men's Christian Association has been serving the young manhood of Oakland aiding them to a better moral, mental and physical being—building better citizens for the city, the state and the nation. Typical of the work it does and the way it does it is the following resume of its service:

For Boys: Vocational guidance, physical training, nature study, summer camps, industrial outings, camp fires, hygiene and morals, elementary education, inspirational talks, hikes, discussion groups, recreational activity, personal problems, instruction in swimming and first aid, Bible classes and religious training and practical help in mental development.

For Young Men: Educational classes, outdoor games, sings, cafeteria service, vocational guidance, swimming instruction, social activities, talks, employment, library and reading rooms, hygienic recreation and indoor games, Bible classes and religious activities, hikes and social events, expert counsel in physical fitness, direction to boarding houses, dormitory rooms in the building, material aid and encouragement and an opportunity to develop all good qualities.

The following figures indicate the extent of this program during the past year: Over 1500 free three months' memberships were given to ex-service men and 100 such men were assisted in securing their government bonus and counselled regarding their insurance; 535 men and boys were directed and assisted to employment, aside from the "Y" cooperation in maintaining the Community Placement Bureau in 1919, and 297 men and boys were helped to jobs in the last three months; 3224 men and 1027 boys were members during the year; 432 boys were enrolled in thirty Bible study classes last winter; 3 summer camps were conducted for 296 boys; the Physical Department helped 1150 men and boys to retain or regain health.

More Ways of Building Better Citizens

There are other ways of building better citizens and these are not overlooked by the "Y" as the work of the Industrial, Americanization, Community, Boys' Work, Religious and Vocational Students' Departments demonstrates.

The Industrial Department has provided weekly programs of entertainment for over 9700 men in 32 manufacturing plants in Oakland, to the delight of the men and the satisfaction of the employers.

The Americanization Department conducts classes in English for foreigners and helps them prepare for securing their naturalization papers.

The Community Boys' Work Department has two secretaries in the outlying parts of the city, bringing the "Y" to boys who are unable to come to the "Y."

The Religious work of the "Y" includes 20 weekly meetings within and without the building with an average attendance of nearly 150.

Vocational students—men wounded and sickened in war service—were given pleasant summer outings over 185 of them being sent for from one to two weeks to resorts from Tahoe to Santa Cruz with all expenses paid.

COX ON FOREIGN AFFAIRS

Governor James Cox of Ohio, Democratic candidate for the Presidency, made a speech in Oakland Saturday night that was forceful and honest in many respects, but was merely designed to catch votes in a few. The candidate is a good public speaker and is trained to sense the temper of his audience; he is quick to get the "feel" of a crowd and is skilled in handling the various elements apt to assert themselves in a political meeting.

This was strikingly demonstrated in his Oakland speech. The most genuinely impressive part of his speech was that regarding the League of Nations. His argument for the League was sound and a part of it unanswerable; his charge that political motives had become the basis of formidable opposition in this country is supported by much fact. But in two passages Governor Cox showed that, while he could defend the League of Nations—a new international order—he knew precious little, or could be distressingly careless, about the conduct of the foreign affairs of his own country.

The Democratic candidate stated that if elected he would immediately after his inauguration take steps to have the controversy between Ireland and England brought before the League of Nations. This was an empty promise. In the first place the United States will not be in a position to bring any subject before the League of Nations until it first becomes a member of the League. Acceptance of the League covenant can not be effected, and the attempt will not be made, until Congress convenes in its first session after March 4th next. Then ratification may take place, but this is not certain. Again, ratification may be expressed in such form, in view of the reservations suggested, that it will not be acceptable to the other nations.

After we do enter the League, we will be in no position to bring a controversy before the League where one or both of the parties to the controversy are members of the council of the League. The initiative in presenting the case must be made by one of the controversialists, because a suggestion from an outsider would be rejected by the party enjoying membership in the council, where action must depend upon unanimous decision. As the League is now framed the Irish question will not come before the League unless Great Britain is willing; no other nation is in a position to make it a subject of discussion.

And after these obstacles are disposed of there is a federal statute against violating the neutrality of a friendly nation and a quite firmly grounded tradition against interfering in the domestic affairs of another country. Mr. Cox will find himself powerless against these limitations unless he desires to bring fresh complications and troubles upon his country.

The second appeal for votes was addressed to Californians in connection with the Japanese questions. Governor Cox said that when he became President he would see to it that California was permitted to settle this matter as she preferred. He called it a local State question.

However one may wish that Governor Cox is correct in his estimate of the Japanese problem we know that this is not true. The Japanese question and the anti-alien land question, which mean one and the same thing, is now an international issue and never can be settled exclusively by the State. National responsibility and national duty in this connection cannot be ignored and Governor Cox knows it.

There are treaty relations between Japan and the United States and the Supreme Court repeatedly has held that treaty stipulations must be fulfilled, regardless of any State law. If a treaty conflicts with a law the treaty may be abrogated in favor of the law, but abrogation is an act for the sole performance of the federal government.

It was hoped that Governor Cox would say that if elected to the Presidency he would see that everything possible was done by the national administration to see that the Japanese problem was resolved in accordance with the views and wishes of California. That would have constituted a promise of assistance. Instead of that he uttered pure buncombe, a reckless statement that, should he by any unfortunate circumstance be elected President, will plague him. The statesmanlike vision which Senator Harding showed in his speech to the California delegation in Marion last week stands out in admirable contrast.

Thus those who heard Governor Cox in Oakland were forced to the conclusion that he was either entirely ignorant of the nature of our foreign relations or that he was merely spreading molasses to catch ignorant flies. Not a very comforting conclusion!

GOLD INDUSTRY ENDANGERED.

Mr. Fletcher Hamilton, State mineralogist, calls attention to the fact that California's gold production for 1920 will be only about $15,000,000. Last year it was $17,335,100; for the ten years prior to 1917 it averaged around $20,000,000, twenty-five to thirty percent of the entire output of the United States.

The effects of the decreasing gold production are many. One is the decreased population in several of the counties in the gold districts. This means in turn less business, less production in other lines in those counties. Mr. Hamilton tells of the condition in the mining communities proper.

"A condition has arisen," he says, "which is not normal nor natural. It has descended like a plague and cast a blight on the gold mining industry of the entire State. Communities in the mining regions of California are being deserted—this fact being positively proven by the returns from the 1920 census. Mines which have produced millions and which should produce millions more are being shut down and allowed to cave in and fill with water; mills and reduction plants worth a king's ransom are left to the mercy of the elements. In Calaveras County the total number of stamps dropping in 1914 was 904. Today only forty stamps are in operation. In Tuolumne county there were 300 stamps in commission in April, 1914. Today not one mill is operating. Similar conditions exist throughout the entire State."

The reasons for this condition have been recited several times in these columns during the last two years. They are the cost of mining operations, equipment, supplies, labor and living having more than doubled; the selling price of gold remains where it always has been fixed by law. "Other industries solve the problem by raising the price of their products commensurate with operating costs. The gold miner, of all men, can take no such action and he is being forced to the wall."

Mr. Hamilton says a remedy has been found. It is the same as suggested first in THE TRIBUNE in September one year ago and later endorsed by the American Mining Congress at its St. Louis convention. Simply and briefly, it is to impose an excise tax of $10 per ounce on gold used in the arts and industry and to pay out of the revenues thus derived a premium for every ounce of newly produced gold. This plan was embodied in the McFadden Bill introduced in the House of Representatives last winter, but which did not become a law.

Gold mining is an important industry to California; it is vital to the solidarity of world finance and credits and monetary systems. The problem of decreasing production does not concern the gold miner alone, but every citizen. It is time therefore that all Californians became interested in the condition into which the industry has fallen and in the urgent question of affording relief.

THE PUBLIC HEALTH.

As happens nearly every school year, there are parents and children in Berkeley and elsewhere rebelling against the regulations and laws designed to protect the health of the whole community. There are some who do not wish to submit to the regular official examinations at the schools to ascertain the absence of contagious disease and others who oppose the observance of preventive measures.

The few dissenters manage to make as much noise and cause as much irritation as possible. If any uninformed person should drop in on the community he would think the whole world revolved around the one percent, dissenting and that the ninety-nine percent, of sensible, law-abiding peaceable folks were submerged slaves in the chains of oppressive government regulations.

It is well to bear in mind that in the framing of health regulations the welfare of all the people were considered. It was anticipated that there would be a few persons who out of prejudice, ignorance, mistaken information or a natural spirit of contrariness, would protest and cause trouble. We have this element with us always. Often it is possible to ignore it; when it threatens the safety of the law abiding it is necessary to control it.

This is a fact the authorities should keep before them. The public health is a vital matter. Nothing for its preservation should be omitted; no act designed to endanger it should be tolerated.

The ex-kaiser has turned from chopping wood to writing wills. Since his desertion from the German army nearly two years ago he has made several last testaments, all of which have been solemnly deposited with the authorities of Holland. Perhaps the trouble is that the former Hohenzollern autocrat is learning from day to day how little he has to dispose of.

NOTES and COMMENT

The census entitles California to move up to tenth place in the sisterhood of States. It is a considerable step in ten years, but it is not a daring prediction that there will be a longer step when the next census is taken. The State has developed new opportunities for capital and energetic men in the last decade, and there will be steady progress in that direction.

Water has become such an important element in conjunction with land that the Yuba chamber of commerce is considering an organization to investigate titles to lands offered for sale, to determine the water rights involved. This is to protect land buyers and to save perplexing litigation, and incidentally to establish a reputation for the county as one in which it is safe to invest. It is in effect heading off the wildcat operator who would sell something which he does not possess.

Red circulars urging strikes, boycotts and uprisings are likely to fall of effect for some time. The recent occurrence in New York has awakened people to the bad effects of indifference to these manifestations. It is time to revise that idea that there is open sesame here for the disaffected of all the earth. Such peoples do not leave their disaffection behind when they land.

It is believed that a contrivance resembling a bomb was left by practical jokers near a sewer outlet in San Francisco. The New York horror has put everybody on the qui vive for such infernal machines, and somebody may have seen a funny action in playing on the shaken public nerve. The practical joker is not reprehensible in the sense that the bomb thrower is, but he is a sore cross for people of sense to bear, wherever and however he manifests himself.

The voting public was reminded during the week that there is another Harding in the political firmament. W. L. Harding is the Governor of Iowa, and is now touring Oregon for Senator Harding of Ohio the Republican candidate for the presidency. The Hardings seem to be thinking the same way in the present campaign.

The Bartenders' Union on the old lines has naturally gone out of existence, but advices from San Jose tell of a successor in the Soda Dispensers' Union. There will be some curiosity to see how much "kick" they are able to inject in this successor. The soft drink dispenser is quite a different character from the artists who mixed the real thing.

The Antioch suit is growing. When it was started reporters took a run and jump and estimated the amount involved at $60,000,000. The latest reference to the litigation makes it $600,000,000, which is a very liberal estimate, it must be admitted.

The trouble in the State printing office will not be smothered. Those who wanted to "get" the State printer may get him but a number of others may also be got possibly not excluding some scalps that were not supposed to be in danger.

A prediction comes from San Jose of a "smash" in the apple market "which will equal that in the tomato market." All fruits are of slow sale this year. Canteloupes are a notable example. In a State that produces fruit so abundantly this is strange. But an explanation may be found in the persistent high prices. Consumers cannot understand the unprecedented high costs when they read and hear so much about producers having an unprofitable time of it, and as a result omit to consume as freely as was their wont.

Some who felt it was up to them to make it a glad occasion for Governor and Candidate Cox are visibly relieved that he has moved along the route, and they are prepared to hear of Los Angeles outdoing San Francisco in the hospitalities involved without that feeling of envy that is generally aroused by the superior activities of the chemically pure city.

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS

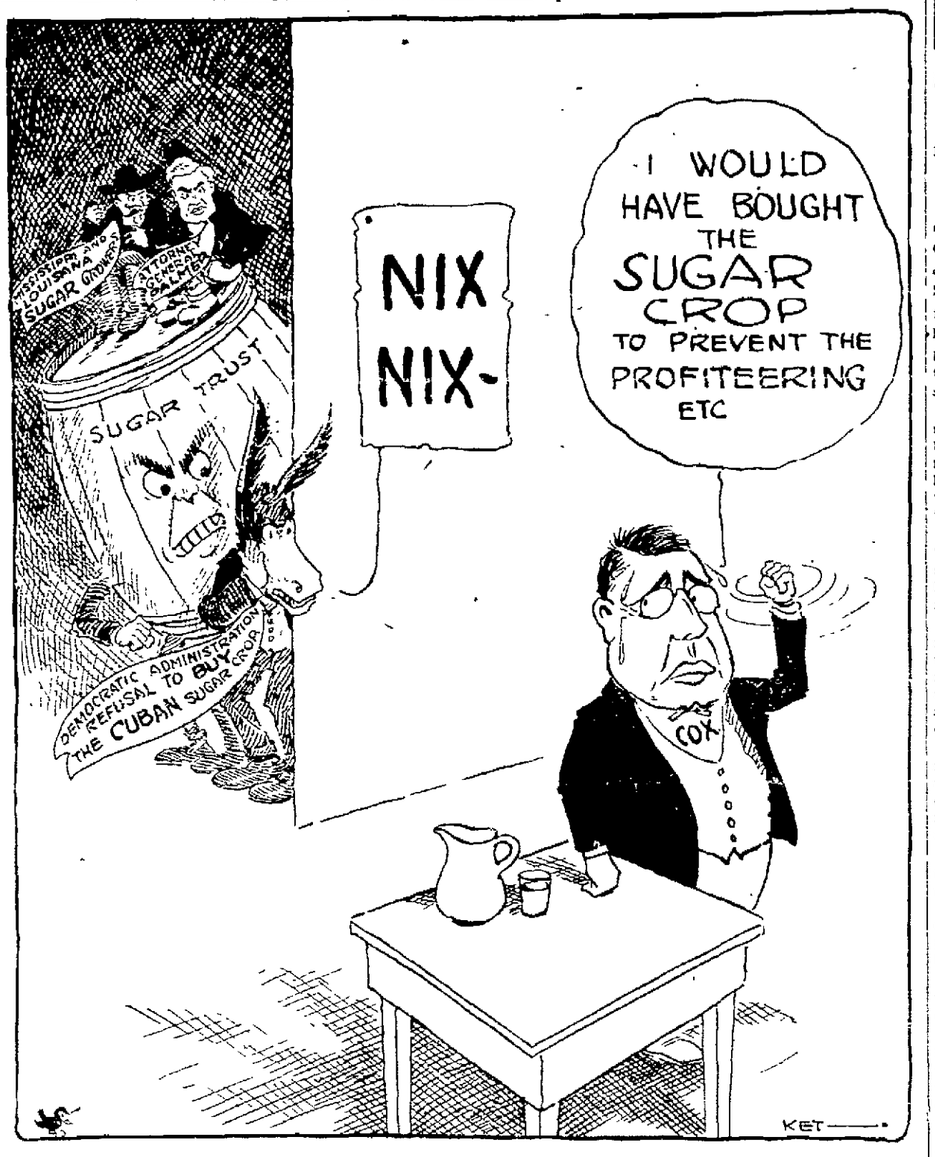

The department of education of the University of California has designed a pacing machine to train the eye muscles so that the subject may read faster. But why in the world should any one want to read faster, unless it be to keep up with the Sunday newspapers and the overflow of magazines, many of which are not worth reading? The trouble is that we read too fast now. If it is a good book or article it needs to be read thoughtfully with pauses to re-read, ponder and digest.—Stockton Record.

W. H. Hendrickson, trustees of local 25, Boilermakers' Union of Bay Point, swore to a warrant of arrest in this city Wednesday afternoon against R. B. Phillips, former business agent of the union. Phillips disappeared from Bay Point some months ago, and efforts have been made by the union to locate him. It is said that the charge against Phillips is a serious one and that the union will insist upon rigid prosecution when he is apprehended.—Bay Point News.

On September 9, Mr. F. May of St. Louis brought his first marlin to gaff—a splendid fish of 201 pounds—and in the very excellent time of 58 minutes. "I had no idea that the marlin were such wonderful acrobats," said Mr. May. This chap cleared the water entirely thirty-three times, and slithered along the surface on many other occasions."—Catalina Islander.

The Alaska Codfish Company has appealed its case to the Superior Court. The company was fined $25 on a charge of selling goods in violation of the net container act, the complaint being sworn to by D. L. Jennings, deputy state sealer of weights and measures.—Marysville Appeal.

WAY TO CLEAN POLITICS

The character of candidates for public office who pitch their campaigns in slander, vituperation, personal abuse of opponents, is a bad phase, but a worse phase is their wretched disesteem of the place they seek and of the people whose suffrages they bespeak, and the worst phase of all is that the citizenship itself refrains from the exercise of such patriotic pride and civic interest as will bring into the field a very different type of candidate, clean men, capable men, high-minded men worthy of the people's votes, their confidence, their offices. It is therefore less the fault of the professional politician than of the electorate whenever and wherever there obtains a condition describable in these words of Emerson: "Politics is a deleterious profession, like some poisonous handicrafts."—San Antonio Express.

DECENT LOT, AFTER ALL

It is well to remember that out of 100,000,000 population of the United States at least 98,000,000 have never applied for divorce. As many more have never committed a murder or a crime. At least 90,000,000 citizens out of 100,000,000 would probably be horrified at the thought of murder or a brutality. If that proportion is high, cut it down. Make it 85,000,000 and even allowing that 5,000,000 people in the United States are degenerate and bad there are a good many more who are not.

The cities are not all bad. And there are a good many decent people still living in New York and Chicago.—Christian Herald.

THE SILVER PLANE

The night comes down on the tired old earth
And covers its many scars
With the misty folds of a purple veil,
Dotted and hemmed with stars.
And over the row of tall black pines,
A luminous crescent new,
The moon through the foam of the flying clouds
Sails gracefully into view.

It is a silver aeroplane
That voyages far and high
The cold blue ocean of boundless space
We used to call the sky;
And the man in the moon is an airman bold
Who fell with his plane one day,
And pilots the shimmering lunar orb
Since then on its scheduled way.

HEALTH and HAPPINESS

What Your "Lumbago" May Be; Ways to Banish It.

By Dr. LEONARD K. HIRSHBERG, A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University.)

It is said there are over 100,000,000 persons in the United States. Of this number, according to a psychologist, who prefers to save his life by withholding his name, only a few thousand persons — from which he excludes you and me—are capable of replacing in their minds old, fixed ideas of [illegible] now but absolutely proved facts.

He may be right. Be that as it may, his convictions are supported by a legion of facts. Among them is the almost religious fanaticism of holding to the fallacies concerning "rheumatism," "acid blood" and "catarrh."

Take nonsensical faiths concerning "lumbago" and "backache" and "gin-good-for-the-kidneys!" Almost one hundred persons in every hundred refuse to have these errors corrected.

Lumbago is only a word which means pain. Such pain is present when there is trouble in the prostate, in the tubes, in the horns of the uterus, displaced or inflamed uterus, solar plexus irritation, tumors, bladder inflammations and the like.

As a rule, the kidneys have nothing to do with it. Indeed, when there is serious trouble—Bright's disease or similar mischief in the kidneys—there is generally no pain in the back.

The bladder and the kidneys are far apart. The kidneys are half a foot to a foot above the bladder.

Flat feet, fallen arches and other deformities of distant bones and joints are sources of lumbago and backache.

The way you stand, the way you walk or work are very often the origin of lumbago.

Artists, diggers of ditches, scrubbers and others who bend or place themselves in unusual positions or put their muscles through motions contrary to the customary habit of the upright human body, need not be amazed if they have lumbago or backache.

It is as foolish to blame it on the kidneys as it is to take that poisonous alcoholic drink, gin, to cure the trouble. It was a wise but not too scrupulous distiller who, several hundred years ago spread the idea that "gin is good for anything." There are many different affections which mask under the easy-going name of "lumbago."

To banish your trouble you must first "catch the disease," whatever it really is, by a correct diagnosis. This depends upon the [illegible] with which tests, examinations and searches for facts are made by your family doctor and his hospital assistants.

Once they have discovered a few dozen facts about your particular trouble, these facts can be assembled into a true diagnosis. Only after correct diagnosis can you expect to be successfully treated for disease.

Y. M. C. A. DRIVE OPENS IN OAKLAND WITH TOMORROW'S DAWN

MEN AND WOMEN JOIN TO PUT OVER FUNDS CAMPAIGN

Thrift for service is future saving.

Subscribing to the Young Men's Christian Association is a saving of the best form of human life—future citizenship.

With these two axioms to guide them, 350 workers, organized under B. A. Forsterer, will tomorrow initiate the Y. M. C. A. drive in Oakland.

The minimum fund dictated by necessity is $250,000.

No maximum has been set.

Any organization which after forty years of service can command the support and respect of an entire city is a proud organization. The solicitors are not going out to beg but to get what is their due; Y. M. C. A. subscriptions are as necessary as government taxes.

WILL BROOK NO FAILURE

This is the philosophy of the workers who are pledged to raise the moneys necessary for the payment of the Y. M. C. A. deficit, the improvement and repair of the association's building at Twenty-first and Telegraph, and the extension of their community work among the negroes of this city.

The workers, consisting of prominent business men of Oakland and local leaders in women's affairs—a battalion strong—met last night at a banquet in the Hotel Oakland and officially began their duties as Y. M. C. A. supporters, laying aside private affairs for the interval between tomorrow, September 22, and September 29, which will be devoted to the campaign.

B. A. Forsterer, director of the campaign, acted as chairman of the organization meeting and toastmaster for the banquet, introducing as speakers men of eminence who represented many-sided phases of local life.

BOMBS IN THE DARK

"We are fighting a war," he said, "but it is a different one than the world war, where two enemies met in the open and one came to defeat the other to victory. The great war in which we are at present engaged is being fought by civilization against a sneaking and hostile force of insinuation and innuendo, of bombs thrown in the dark, of darker deeds done secretly. There are two means in our possession with which to combat this enemy—education and example. The schools alone are unable to do it because the anarchist is in our schools. But with the help of auxiliary institutions, which far-seeing men who are interested in the development of good citizenship have created to round out the work of the schools and make good American citizens, the battle is over half won. The Y. M. C. A. is such an institution. Its work is above reproach."

Dr. Tully Knowles, president of the College of the Pacific, was next introduced, and spoke in part as follows:

"The future of the world lies in the Pacific basin, and therefore I say that the peopling of the Pacific coast with the right sort of citizens is of paramount importance. It is possible to keep the boy from throwing a monkey-wrench in the machinery of our government, to give him guidance and administer to his best development. Bomb-throwers would destroy all property, anarchists would destroy human life, the ultra-radical would destroy everything else that we hold dear. He, the anarchist, the Bolshevist, the I.W.W., is in the school. Now is the time to make him over. The Y. M. C. A. is one of the best means for accomplishing this.

SAVING HUMAN DRIFTWOOD

"The war has taught us to respect the junkman—because he saves something—and thrift has been granted the name of a great virtue. All salvage stations—the Salvation Army, charity organizations, missions—are the most worthwhile things in life. The happy man is the man who saves, we were taught in schools when those of you who are of my age were school children; the modern theory is now 'Thrift for the sake of service.' The Y. M. C. A. has always been a life-saving station.

"We must now, in addition to teaching the young man the values of citizenship, stimulate, inspire him, round him out, develop him; there is not a dollar that can be spent in social service to greater advantage than by making better citizens on the Pacific coast for the future. The Y. M. C. A. is known as extremely successful in the accomplishment of such an end."

C. G. Titus, general secretary for the Oakland Y. M. C. A., outlined the work of the institution among the industrial men and the youth of the Eastbay region and told the workers in what the present urgent needs of the organization consisted.

HOW INSTITUTION GREW

"The Y. M. C. A.," he said, "began in London seventy-six years ago at the instigation of six young men, one of whom was knighted therefor by Queen Victoria, and it has grown now until in the United States there are 2200 branches and 1700 throughout the remainder of the world. The Y. M. C. A. reaches men in railways, in foreign service, in the army and the navy, in colleges. It now has 117 departments devoted exclusively to the young negroes of the cities in which these negro institutions are situated.

"The program of the 'Y' is fivefold: it is for physical, educational, moral, social and economic development. Its work along among ex-servicemen is sufficient justification of its purposes. During the summer 1355 of these former soldiers were given free memberships, and, in cooperation with the federal vocational board, free vacations were procured at Lake Tahoe and other California summer resorts for 185 of the wounded. Some thirty-two Oakland manufacturing plants are reached in a very concrete fashion by the 'Y,' and it is in these factories and industrial communities that the work of making good citizens of young men is most obviously successful.

"The entire problem of youth for America is to provide the proper leadership for boys and young men—to direct them in the functioning of their very natural 'Gang' instinct. The community boys' secretary, a new extension of our activities, by which we reach thousands of young men and boys who otherwise are too distant from the buildings or too ignorant of its uses to come to us, is designed especially for this sort of work.

"'How did the Y. M. C. A. get its debt?' is a question which subscribers will probably ask you.

FEES KEPT DOWN

"The new building, erected ten years ago, still suffers a deficit of $60,000 because it refrained from soliciting at the time for moneys on account of the efforts of the Young Women's Christian Association to become located here. It had given its word to the women and could not break it. They were successful and built their building. We are still suffering from the deficit caused by our lack of campaign then.

"We must keep the membership fees of the Y. M. C. A. as moderate as possible—they are at present under 20 per cent of maintenance cost—in order to reach the number of boys that we do. Otherwise the poorer boy would be barred, and that means that four-fifths of the boy members would be barred from the privileges of the 'Y.'

"In this time of trouble throughout the nation I cannot emphasize to you the importance of rightly influencing the young negro. The negroes of Oakland have already raised some money and asked us—not for a building—but for a community service secretary for them, to lead the negro youth of this city to the best sort of citizenship.

"One of the best examples of the sort of citizens the Y. M. C. A. aids in forming is Colonel David P. Barrows, president of the University of California, who came to the university when a student as assistant secretary of the university Y. M. C. A. on the campus."

TITUS TELLS OF WORK

Titus went on to tell of the work of the association in Oakland during the past year. Over 3209 men and 1027 boys were members, 462 boys were enrolled in Bible classes, three summer camps were conducted for boys and the physical department helped 1150 men and boys to regain or retain health and provided leadership for recreation—these and the work of the organization in industrial circles and its religious, community service, vocational training and teaching among foreigners comprised for the most part the institution's activities throughout the year past, according to Titus.

H. C. Capwell next spoke to the campaigners as follows:

"Ignorance is to be shunned. We are here to disperse the ignorance of a great many people who do not know the Y. M. C. A. or what the Y. M. C. A. does. Seventy years ago when the Young Men's Christian Association came into being, the initial letters of the institution's name probably meant 'You May Call Again.' Its activities were here extended forty years back when the association began in Oakland and upon the erection of their building the sign was changed to read 'You Must Call Again.' I am here tonight to tell you that you men are pledged to a duty and that in consideration thereof 'You Must Collect Again.'

ANARCHISTS OUR FAULT

"It is your fault and my fault that there are anarchists and Bolshevists—it is a fault of our ignorance, because in that ignorance we have not shown them the right way. We have allowed the soap box orator to talk and have never told his listeners about the beautiful institutions of the United States—the Y. M. C. A. and others. We would never feel like gathering up all the clothes lines in the city for use upon these radical people if we had educated them out of their ignorance. There is one way of doing this. Whenever you uphold the Y. M. C. A. you are preaching from the soap box what is good to hear for those who usually hear nothing but evil."

Other speakers before the meeting included R. A. Leet, A. W. Moore, J. Cal Ewing, Max Horwinski and Fred M. Hunter.

Forsterer, as leader of the drive, adjourned the meeting with a final message:

"You are not going out to beg but to get what is the due of the Y. M. C. A. Subscriptions to the 'Y' are as necessary as government taxes."

The campaign will last until September 29, with daily meetings for luncheon and discussion in the grill of the Hotel Oakland, which has been placed at the disposal of the workers by the hotel for the duration of the drive.

Berkeley 'Y' Opens Financial Campaign

BERKELEY, Sept. 21.—Keep the youth of Berkeley morally and physically fit for the battle of life was the plea sent out today by officials of the Berkeley Y. M. C. A. with the opening of a drive to raise $77,000 in the next seven days.

Two hundred business men of the city assembled last night at the Hotel Whitecotton sounded the first gun in the opening of the campaign under the leadership of Ernest Mogge, campaign director from the international committee of the "Y" and W. F. Morrish, chairman of the executive committee. Dr. Ira Landrith, prohibition candidate for president in 1916, declared that Bolshevism was the outcome of lack of education and declared that in clean minds the community had its best asset for good citizens. General H. A. Greene, former commander at Camp Lewis, showed the value of physical training as exemplified during the war and urged that support be given to the "Y" in its work for a better manhood.

"This campaign is the first step in a ten-year program of expansion to bring the opportunities of the Y. M. C. A. to every man and boy needing them in Berkeley," says Secretary John W. Berger, secretary of the local "Y" in explaining the reasons for the appeal for funds.

S. F. Woman Is Chevalier in Honor Legion

COUNTESS DE BUYER-MIMEURE, formerly Miss Daisy Polk, who has been made a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

PARIS, Sept. 21.—Madame de Buyer-Mimeure, formerly Miss Daisy Polk of San Francisco, has been made a chevalier of the Legion of Honor in recognition of her services to France during the war, it was announced today.

Three years ago, while engaged in war work in France, Miss Polk was married to General Marie Joseph Louis Robert de Buyer-Mimeure of the French army, a well-known cavalry officer. Miss Polk earlier in that year had been in charge of the reconstruction of the [illegible] selected by Mrs. W. H. Crocker of San Francisco to be rebuilt entirely by her. Before taking up her work at Virrimont and other villages that had been damaged by the Germans Miss Polk was engaged in war relief work of various kinds.

Miss Polk, by her marriage, acquired right to the title of countess, as her husband bears the title of Count de Buyer-Mimeure. She is a sister of Willis Polk, a San Francisco architect.

Captain Wilson and Miss Patten Wed

Captain Arthur R. Wilson and Miss Eva Ruth Patten were speeding away on their honeymoon before their friends knew of the culmination of their childhood romance yesterday. When news came that the instructor in the Vocational High School and the officer in the Ninth Field Artillery had visited the county clerk's office, and obtained their license to wed they were en route to Plumas county on their wedding journey.

Captain Wilson and Miss Patten were girl and boy sweethearts, in Oroville. Later they both graduated from the University of California. The bride has taught in the Vocational High School for two years. Previously she was a member of the Oroville High School.

As a member of the Golden Bear Society, the Bachelordon Club and editor of the Daily Californian, Captain Wilson was prominent in the class of 1917. At the outbreak of the war he entered the army. He was overseas 14 months. He is now stationed at Fort Sill, Okla., where he and his bride will make their home.

SCHOOL SANITARY SURVEY STARTED; MENACE CHARGED

A survey of the sanitary and plumbing conditions in Oakland schools with an object of determining the truth of charges that certain of the buildings are a menace to health and need immediate attention, has been started by the Board of Education and the department of public health. At a meeting tomorrow night the board's budget committee will ascertain the amount of money available for the work that must be done and will estimate the additional amount that may be needed. The committee will report to the board on Thursday night.

So serious is the condition considered by some of the members of the board that a plan to raise the required money by closing the schools early is under consideration.

Business Manager L. D. Barzee of the Board of Education last night told the board that the City Council should bear some of the onus for conditions, as the council was asked for funds for this specific purpose and did not provide the funds.

The school funds, it was agreed, will be taxed to the uttermost rather than allow present conditions to exist.

"If necessary we will close the schools earlier," said Eugene Young.

The following schools are alleged to be among the worst:

ACTION DEMANDED

The matter was brought before the board by Director J. L. Pease, who insisted that action be delayed no longer.

"The schools are insanitary," said Pease. "Months ago the Elmhurst school's condition was dangerous to the health of children. We must have immediate action. It is imperative."

Barzee pointed out that the matter was brought up to the board four months ago, but it was alleged that the council had cut an appropriation for this purpose out of the budget.

"We have a condition that nearly approximates Berkeley," said Pease. "There has been death in Berkeley. We must not have a like condition here."

[illegible] SURVEY

Chairman Floyd Gray said "the only solution is entirely to remove the present sanitary system of the schools and replace it," but this was admitted to be so costly as to be almost out of the question.

Discussion started a motion to consider the matter in committee of the whole, but it was lost because Pease and others urged immediate action.

It is admitted that there are many others schools whose condition is growing worse all the time, and last nights' action will start a survey of the whole sanitary and plumbing situation in the Oakland schools, it was asserted.

Husband Denies That He Choked Woman

Denying that he was ever known as a "gay Lothario," that he choked his wife in a drunken rage, or that he caused her physical injury and mental suffering, J. Walter Laymance today filed an answer to Grace D. Laymance's suit for divorce.

Laymance in his answer denies that they have community property of value greater than $1500 and asks that his wife be denied a divorce and the $100 a month alimony which she asks.

He enters a general denial to the charges that he indulged in the excessive use of alcohol, that he called his wife "crazy" and said that her mother died in an insane asylum and that through his dissipation he was incapacitated to transact business.

Laymance says that their real property is worth only $500 instead of $10,000.

DUCK HUNTER DROWNS.

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, Sept. 21.—F. A. Rector, prominent Oakley, Idaho, business man, was drowned at Martaugh lake, seventeen miles from here Sunday, when a small boat in which he was hunting ducks capsized. Rector was unable to swim.

AFTERNOON SCHOOL OPENS.

Special classes are being formed this week for beginners and advanced pupils in intensive bookkeeping, business arithmetic and penmanship at the Technical continuation high school. Classes meet from [illegible] to 4:30 p. m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Broadway Bill Recalls Frankie Burns' Bid for The Lightweight Honors

Inside Chatter About Little Four Rounders Who Will Entertain Tomorrow Night

By BOB SHAND

"I see where they have dusted off Frankie Burns and are going to shoot him in against Dave Shade Wednesday night" said Broadway Bill as he hoisted a glass of "gingerale" that set him back four bits. "And believe me a lot of the old timers are going to be there to root for the blonde. Maybe Frankie isn't the greatest lightweight in the world but he is the best that this city ever turned out and I'm thinking about Jimmy Duffy when I chirp these words.

Frankie got his crack at the title but he got it at the wrong time. He was little more than a novice back in 1911 when Jack Perkins shot him in against Ad Wolgast. A year before that Wolgast gave Battling Nelson a forty-round beating and won the lightweight championship. He had just got through knocking out Antone LaGrave in five rounds and One-Round Hogan in two when he was matched with Burns.

Some of Frankie's closest friends advised him it was a bad match. They told him to wait another year at least and in the meantime gain experience, but Perkins, who was managing the blonde at that time, was determined to go through with the [illegible]. Frankie wasn't the only man who thought Burns had a chance with the Michigan Wildcat. Dave Cockrell sunk [illegible] on Burns' chances at two to one and Al White and a few others took some of the juicy odds offered.

Burns Went Seventeen Rounds With Wolgast

Frankie lasted seventeen rounds but he was not knocked out. In the fifteenth and sixteenth Wolgast opened up with everything he had and Burns was being beaten to a pulp. It was Dave Cockrell, the man with the three thousand bet on Burns who was responsible for stopping the fight. Dave leaned over my shoulder between rounds and demanded that Perkins throw in the towel. "He is too game a boy to get beaten up any more, Jack," said Big Dave, "toss in the towel or don't let him come up for the next round. I'd rather kiss my money good bye than sit through another round of such slaughter." And the fight was stopped right there.

"Would Burns have won the championship had he waited another year?" asked the Gallervite.

Frankie Too Nervous To Ever Be Champion

"I doubt it," said Bill. "In fact I don't believe that Frankie was cut out to be a champion. He was a wonderfully fast boxer with a beautiful one-two punch and he proved his gameness in that Wolgast fight but—the kid has the wrong temperament. He is as high strung as a race horse and on the eve of an important battle he was a bunch of nerves. Nobody could do anything with Frankie a few days before a big fight. They hired professional entertainers and [illegible] ners and trainers but these tricks didn't work. The kid's mind was on the battle and nothing would make him forget it. Ask Eddie "Hats" Parker and George Proctor; they almost went crazy trying to humor the blonde lightweight.

"But that's all that kept Frankie from reaching the top of the heap. He had everything else. When Perkins and Burns broke Grant Gorman tried to send Frankie to the front but while he made a couple of good fights he never advanced any further. The best battles Frankie ever put up were the two with Johnny Frayne and the last scrap he had with One Round Hogan. Jack Perkins, his old manager, was back of Frayne and Burns fought like a tiger.

"When the call came for men to lick the Kaiser Frankie enlisted in the Engineers Corps and went over to France. He has been getting by nicely among the little four-rounders and Shade is going to bump into a tough old bird tomorrow night."

"Have you noticed the change in Frankie since he came back from France?" asked the Ringsider.

"Sure have," replied Bill. "Before he went over he used to wear dude clothes and park and cane and everything and parade Broadway morning, noon and night. He has cut that stuff altogether now and is a staid and solid business man who simply does a little four-rounding on the side. More power to the old boy."

Jimmy Duffy Is a Problem to Fans

"What do you think of the Jimmy Duffy-Phil Salvado [illegible]?" asked the Bartender.

"Duffy is a problem," replied Bill. "If he is in shape he will make that Salvadore kid dizzy, but if he has been spending his time on the dance floor and giving the teachers the go-by he is liable to get shown up. The Duffy of a year ago could take Phil Salvadore, Sally Salvadore, five more Salvadores and eight stevedores and lick 'em all in the same evening, but the Jimmy Duffy who boxed Willie Robinson and Willie Hunefeld might get licked by a kid like Salvadore. Jimmy's case is in his own hands and tomorrow night will tell the tale. The Duffy of a year ago could go back east and clean up $30,000 in twelve months. The Duffy of recent fights has been barely able to hold his own with third-raters. Jimmy is a mighty nice kid and nobody wishes him any more luck than I do. I'm not knocking him, remember, it is just friendly criticism and here's hoping it will sink in and that Jimmy will be up there where he belongs in a very short time.

Shafer and Thomas Will Be Real Scrap

Watch something happen when Bill Shafer and Nathan Thomas hook up. Bill has been four-rounding a long time and the boys down in the shipyard look upon him as an authority. Well, the other day this Thomas guy who is very dark, made a crack to the effect that he did not think Mr. Shafer was so much of a [illegible]. The riveters got 'em in the ring at the noon hour and from all reports it was a whale of a scrap. Simpson heard about it and gave 'em the dickens. "I'm givin' medals for fightin'," said Tommy. "You guys report at the auditorium and never again give any free shows."

The one best bet in this battle is that it doesn't go the limit. You can pick the winner yourself.

Sammy Gordon Is Working Way Up

This Sammy Gordon who now boxes Mickey O'Donnell is lightning fast. I saw him hold George Spencer to a draw over six rounds at Mare Island Decoration Day in a preliminary to the Petroskey-McCormick battle and he looked like a real fighter. Sammy thinks he should have been matched with a better boy than O'Donnell but the Martinez Flash is liable to cause him a lot of trouble. Walter Moon is managing the Gordon boy and is going after the featherweight championship by easy stages. If Sammy whips O'Donnell tomorrow night he will be the champion of Martinez. Then he will fight some bird from Richmond, and then meet a Rodeo pug. Pretty soon he will be the champion of Contra Costa county and will start to take on the Alameda county boys. In the course of a year or two, if his health holds out, Sammy will be the champion of California and will be in a position to move on to Nevada and find another world to conquer.

Koriyama and Romeo Are With Us Again

Togo Koriyama and Romeo are back again. Their last scrap was a bear. The Japanese, Koriyama, had an edge but the draw decision was satisfactory to all parties concerned.

"Ah Fong, the Chinese fighter from Marysville, will positively appear this time. He is in town and swinging a mean flat iron at Lem Wong's laundry. The man from Pekin is paired off with Eddie Macey, a southern California boxer who is willing to start in the curtain raiser just to show he has the goods.

"Stenographer" Sange Will Meet Cumpston

Al Sange, the only four-rounder in the world who employs a private secretary and stenographer, has a date with Kid Cumpston. Sange had his blonde stenog. type a letter which was mailed to all the sporting editors announcing that his name was "Sange" and not "Sanchez." Al is one of these guys who believes there IS something in a name.

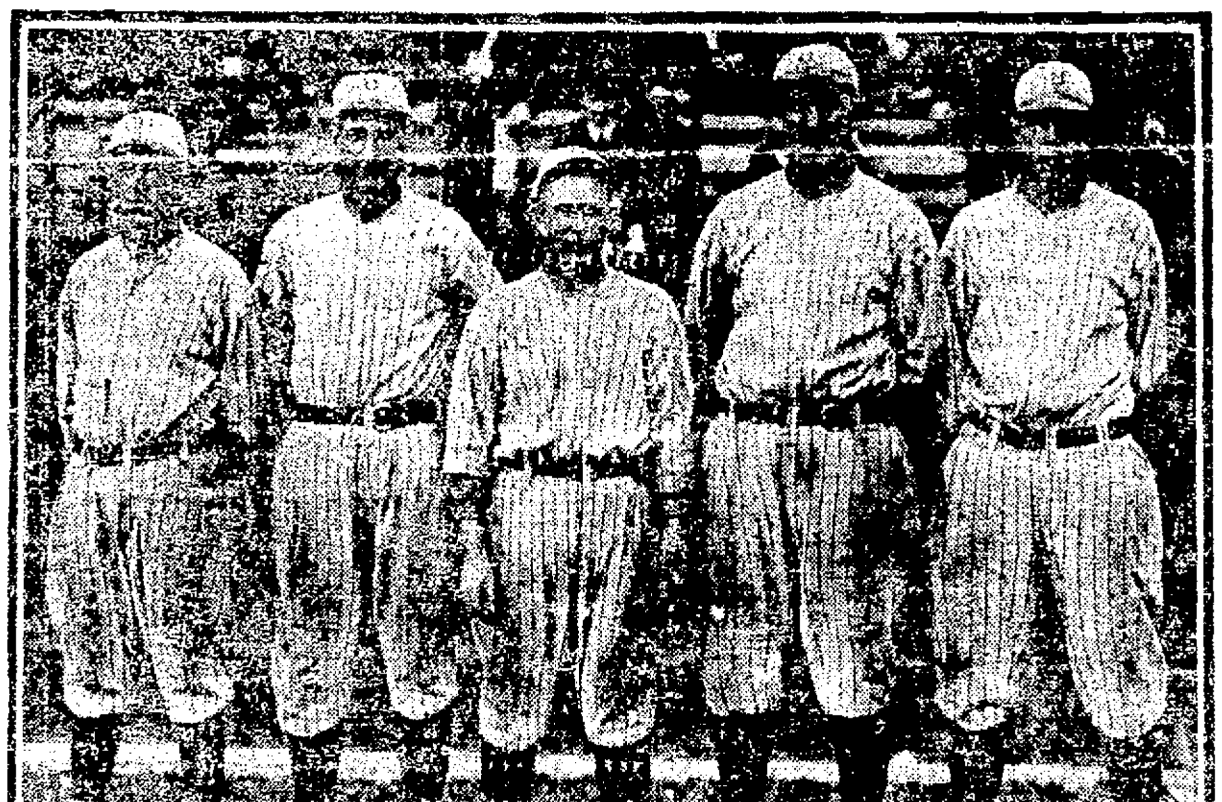

Gig Rooney, the serious looking citizen from Los Angeles, has arrived with Jimmy Brenton in tow and James will be sent into the ring with Ed Randes. Rooney says his fighter can pack a heavier tray than anybody else on Spring street and is in wonderful shape. And just to correct an erroneous impression Rooney insists that Brenton does not hail from Iowa.

"You will notice there are eight battles on the card this week. The explanation is that Simpson forgot last Wednesday was Dollar Day and is going to make up for the oversight tomorrow night."

"After that oration maybe you'll buy a drink?" suggested the Ringsider.

"I sure will," was the quick reply. "C'mon up the street to the gas station. It costs 27 cents a gallon there and I've been paying four bits a shot for the same thing here."

THE DODGERS' STONEWALL DEFENSE

Here is the Brooklyn infield which has done much to put their club at the head of the National League. They are expected to shine in the world series this year, for they say they have the National League pennant cinched. Cincy Reds Confident Ball Club

Too Much Confidence Has Probably Cost Them the Pennant

By H. C. HAMILTON, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—If the world's champion Cincinnati Reds fail to win the National League pennant this year they will lay it to the fact that Billy Kopf and Morris Rath were out of the game through injuries and that Hod Eller was handicapped by pitching rules, but the truth of the case will be that they lost it because they refused to admit that there were other good baseball clubs in the circuit. They were too confident of their power.

On the other hand, if the New York Yankees fail to win the championship of the American League they probably will point out that various stars were injured at stages in the campaign and handicapped them, but the truth in this case will be that the Yankees couldn't convince themselves that they were good enough to win. They didn't have sufficient confidence.

Now where is the dividing line between these two evils?

Last summer the Giants, a fighting ball club at that time, invaded Cincinnati with a chance to win the pennant. They took a sound beating at the hands of the Reds and were practically knocked for a row of corn right there. Later the Reds came to New York to play three successive double-headers with the Giants, and they won four of the six games.

In that final New York series the Giants were outgamed, outpitched, outbatted and outplayed at every stage of the game by a baseball club that kept its mind on its business and made every [illegible] a safe one. There was no wrangling with the umpires to speak of. The pitchers worked hard. Everybody was in the game intent upon winning.

This year when the Reds first visited the Polo Grounds they used tactics that would have shamed a rank amateur bunch of ball tossers. They rode the umpires, fought with the Giants and generally created so much diversion for themselves that they were easy prey for the McGraw team.

They have kept at that sort of work all Summer long. The affair has gone so far that certain members of the team are now accused of having made trouble for others. There is said to be dissension in the ranks, due to the arrogance of a few players. Of course, no team could hope to win a pennant under such a handicap, regardless of its power. Baseball winners must keep their minds intent on their business, exclusive of everything else. It is the only thing that brings co-ordination.

The Yankees present a far different case. There is no question about the team's pluck and fighting ability. There are players on the club who haven't a great deal of fight in them, but they are not quitters in any sense of the word. Then there are others who are strongest when under the strain of a nerve-breaking situation. These combine to make the club a fighting one.

The Yankee pitchers were the best in the league when the season opened, but they lost caste quickly and have turned form somersaults that left New York fandom gasping.

From top to bottom the Yankee batting order presents the most formidable array of sluggers in the American League, yet there have been times when these husky bats could scarcely get a ball out of the infield.

The effect of one slump in a batsman seems to run a gauntlet of this club, and the same thing holds good for the pitchers. The players do not appear to realize that they are strong, even with a few stars slumping. Therefore they all slump.

BIG LEAGUE GAMBLING SCANDAL COMES UP IN COURT TOMORROW

Subpenas Are Issued for Prominent Officials, Players and Sport Writers

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Grand jury investigation of alleged gambling by baseball players in last year's world series and in games between Chicago and Philadelphia National League clubs August 31 will start tomorrow with a score of baseball officials, players and writers subpoenaed to testify. Subpoenaes were issued today for the following persons to appear before the grand jury:

B. B. Johnson, president of the American League.

William L. Veeck, president of the Chicago Nationals.

Bert E. Collyer and Frank O. Kline, both of Chicago, sporting writers.

I. E. Sanborn and Oscar Reichow, baseball writers for the Chicago Tribune and the Chicago Daily News respectively.

PLAYERS SUMMONED

Subpoenaes for additional players probably will be issued before the investigation begins, said R. A. Replogle, who is working as prosecutor under direct orders from Chief Justice C. A. McDonald of the Criminal court. He declared that Hal Chase, Lee Magee and Heinie Zimmerman, all former major league players, probably would [illegible] charges of alleged gambling which have been voiced against Magee and Chase would enter into the investigation, he said.

When asked why Benton was the only player called thus far, Mr. Replogle said he "believed Benton had information the grand jury needed," and that Benton would be asked "to tell what a certain player asked him to do."

The grand jury will not be given any quantity of evidence concerning baseball pools, he said, but every attempt would be made to get into the real gambling—the throwing of games by star players.

WILL "GO THE LIMIT"

Officials and writers subpoenaed who are now in Chicago unanimously voiced approval of the subpoenaes and declared they were ready to "go the limit in furnishing any information they possessed."

Mr. Johnson of the American League declared that the league's resources would be at the jury's disposal and that he believed the investigation would be of great benefit to baseball generally.

William Veeck, president of the Chicago National League club, said "it was just what he had been hoping for."

President Comiskey of the American League club could not be reached, but his son, J. Louis Comiskey, treasurer of the club, said the club would co-operate "to the limit."

It became known today that the committee of baseball writers appointed to investigate charges that the Chicago-Philadelphia National League game referred to by the grand jury had been "fixed" for Philadelphia to win had done little thus far. Sam Hall refused to serve as chairman, saying he could not spare the time.

Messengers were sent today to President Heydler and to Benton ordering them to come before the jury Wednesday.

The Philadelphia-Chicago game was won by Philadelphia, 3 to 0, after Manager Mitchell had switched at the last minute from Hendrix to Alexander in making the pitching assignment. Just before the game President Veeck received a number of telegrams and telephone calls telling him the game had been "fixed" and that large sums of money were being bet on Philadelphia in many cities.

HAL CHASE AGAIN

In a statement Veeck said the switch to Alexander was made so as to present the strongest lineup possible. Alexander pitched good ball, but lost primarily on errors by Herzog and Barber.

Charges that Hal Chase was implicated in gambling were made several years ago when he was a member of the Cincinnati team. Benton was a member of the Cincinnati club then, Prosecutor Replogle said.

The American League will ask Congress to enact a law at its next session making betting on a baseball game a penitentiary offense, President Johnson said tonight. He said the league would ask that this law be made as severe as possible and worded so as to eliminate all baseball pools. Only in this way, he said, could gambling be definitely eliminated from baseball.

Mr. Johnson said the American league still was investigating charges of gambling in last year's world series and expected to make public the result of its investigation within a short time.

"Most of my work this summer has been devoted to running down gambling charges," he added.

Ladies Have Own Tourney At Sequoyah

Mrs. Bernard Turns in Low Score in First Competition

By W. D. McNICOLL.

The lady members of the Sequoyah Golf and Country Club have inaugurated the first of a series of monthly competitions and fourteen players turned in medal scores over the 18 holes. Mrs. James has donated a trophy for the winner and Mrs. Stadtfeld will supply the runner up with golf balls. Mrs. Bernard had low gross with a splendid 89, just three over her record for the course. Mrs. Taylor's 96 and Mrs. Stadtfeld's 99 were the other scores under the 100 mark, and that calls for very good golf at Sequoyah, which has practically no ladies' tees. Mrs. Waterman won the low net with 76, making good use of her 35 handicap and shooting steady golf for a gross score of 111. The medal scores were as under:

Mrs. Bernard, 89; Mrs. Taylor, 96; Mrs. Stadtfelt, 99; Mrs. Valentine, 107; Mrs. Andrews, 107; Mrs. Waterman, 111; Mrs. Foote, 111; Mrs. Lee, 113; Mrs. James, 118; Mrs. A. Lorber, 118; Mrs. Wigton, 118; Mrs. Chase, 131; Mrs. Scott, 1[illegible]; Mrs. Johnson, 133.

The first round match play handicap must be played off on or before Friday the 24th, the drawings are as follows: Mrs. Bernard vs. Mrs. James; Mrs. Scott vs. Mrs. Andrews; Mrs. Foote vs. Mrs. Lee; Mrs. Wighton vs. Mrs. Stadtfield; Mrs. Taylor vs. Mrs. Larber; Mrs. Johnson vs. Mrs. Waterman; Mrs. Chase vs. Mrs. Valentine.

Members of the Athenian-Nile club will stage the first of their annual golf tournaments on the links of the Claremont club tomorrow. A dinner in the clubhouse will follow. The second half of the competition will take place at Sequoyah.

Deaf Football Team Defeats Tamalpais Hi

The Foothills (deaf) football eleven defeated Tamalpais High School by the score of 19-3 at Mill Valley. Although outweighed, the deaf boys managed to put over 3 touchdowns by trick plays in the second half of the game.

The Foothills' team of the California School for the Deaf and Blind at Berkeley challenges any team (weighing average at 145 pounds flat) to a game. Arrangements can be had by writing Carol G. Land, care of California School for the Deaf and Blind, Berkeley.

Crystal Laundry Shuts Out Poplar Candies

The Crystal Laundry baseball club handed the Poplar Candy a 6-to-0 shut-out at Bay View last Sunday afternoon. Eddie Nelton was on the hill for the Washers, and allowed but two scattered hits, while the Laundry boys found "Dutch" Kogler for eight bingles, and made them count.

THE FOOTBALL GAME.

VINA DEL MAR, Chile, Sept. 21.—Football teams representing Chile and Argentina played a tie game yesterday 1 to 1. The Uruguayan team continues to lead in the South American championship.

Goodman Is Elected President of P. A. A.

Sam Goodman, delegate from the soccer football association, was last night elected president of the Pacific Association branch of the Amateur Athletic union. Goodman did good work in the recent campaign for funds with which to send the athletes to Belgium and the presidency of the association was his reward.

Merrill Andrus, chairman, William Granet and J. F. Resleure were appointed to the registration board.

O. G. Wikander was elected official handicapper for the swimmers and J. B. Tomlinson will handicap the track and field athletes. The registration committee reported that 1166 athletes are registered with the Pacific Association.

Charlie White to Box Jackson at Garden

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Announcement was made here today that Charlie White, Chicago lightweight, had been signed to meet Willie Jackson in a 15-round match to a decision at Madison Square Garden, N. Y., next Tuesday night. They are to make 135 pounds.

Dempsey-Moran Bout Refused By Boston

BOSTON, Sept. 21.—The State Boxing Commission today refused to sanction a bout between Jack Dempsey and Frank Moran, in which the heavyweight championship would have been at stake. The match had been arranged for October 12. The commission made no announcement of its reason for refusing sanction.

Vernon Will Have To Fight to Keep Ahead of Field

Plenty of "ifs," "unlesses," "maybes" and "buts" were heard throughout the circuit today as Coast League players, refreshed by a day of rest, took the work to resume the sport toward the finish.

Unless Vernon [illegible] of Los Angeles continues to run, maybe Salt Lake or San Francisco will stage an eleventh-hour winning streak—that was the gist of chatter from enthusiasts who are [illegible] to follow the bitter pennant struggle going on right in their midst.

Series that ought to be filled with gobs of thrills open today. Bill Essick's bunch of bloodthirsty Tigers leading the league by a scant two games, engage the Oaks in battle.

The Seals tackle the clan of Killefer. Relying on previous "dope" by their wild winning spree the Angels, who formerly occupied a place down in second division, now are determined to supplant Essick's crowd at the head of the class. The Seattle Siwashes [illegible] tribe that slammed the Salt Lake Bees are out of [illegible] meet the lowly Sacramento Senators. [illegible]

If the Bees do not get out of their slump and score a few runs for Ralph Stroud now and again the former sailor will not be leading the Coast League pitchers when the season closes. Johnny Couch, of the Seals, and Wheezer Dell, of the Tigers, are crowding the Bee pitcher and are liable to pass him any time now. Stroud has won 23 and lost 12 for a percentage of .658. Couch and Dell are tied for second place with 22 won and 13 lost for a percentage of .628.

Kum Arlett leads the Oakland chuckers with the nice record of 25 won and 16 lost. Considering the position of the Oaks in the race Arlett's record is even better than the cold figures show. Indians and Sox Will Tangle in Crucial Series

By H. C. HAMILTON International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The most crucial of crucial series is yet to be played, apparently. Unless some distance is placed between the White Sox and the Indians today or tomorrow, the American League pennant is very likely to be decided in the series of three games between these two teams which starts Thursday in Cleveland.

In view of the fact that Cleveland is playing Boston and Chicago entertaining the Athletics, some of the gap between the clubs may even be whittled down, for the dope indicates that Cleveland stands a much better chance of being beaten by the Red Sox than do the White Sox at the hands of the Connie Mack outfit. Also Chicago has been making a firm and decided stand on the home lot.

The Reds took some joy out of life for Manhattanites when they walloped the Giants in the second number of a double bill while the Dodgers were putting away another victory. They gained slightly on the pursuing Giants, if you can call five games and a half in the rear a pursuit.

The Dodgers lay off today while the Giants and the Reds take each other by the throat again. Tomorrow the Braves will visit the Dodgers and the Cubs will be back for a farewell call at the Polo Grounds.

LAWYER PLEADED FOR LOVE WHEN HE WON DIVORCE

ALAMEDA, Sept. 21.—A romance that began in a court room has culminated in F. E. McNamara, Alameda attorney, winning both the case and heart of Mrs. Grace M. Valentine.

The two were married in San Jose Saturday. The wedding came as a complete surprise to the friends of the couple, who had no inkling of the prank that Cupid was playing.

McNamara, who is associated with Judge L. R. Weiman, first met Mrs. Valentine when he represented her in divorce proceedings a year ago. Acquaintance developed into love and the surprise marriage Saturday. The couple will make their home in Alameda.

Striking Costumes Mills Play Feature

Dye pots and paint soaps have been called into service by Miss Amy Grupe of Stockton to get unusual effects in color for the costumes which will mark the Saturday productions of "The Winter's Tale," the Shakespearian play chosen for their annual production by the Mills College Drama association. Miss Grupe is the wardrobe woman. With her assistants she has spent the time away from classrooms in experimenting with color combinations and decorative motifs. With historical sketches and etchings as models the young women have themselves fashioned the costumes in brilliant Byzantine lines. The striking garments have been completed by the corps of young artists.

"The Winter's Tale" will be given in the natural amphitheatre on both Saturday afternoon and evening, under the direction of Mrs. Marian Long Stebbins. The versatile thespians will themselves assume the male roles. Prominent in the cast will be Miss Lois Hunter, Eureka; Miss Esther Waite, Miss Wilma Waite, Michigan; Miss Ada Beveridge, Fresno; all of whom have made records in college dramatics.

Y.W.C.A. notes

Miss Gretchan Smith, formerly a member of the faculty in the University of Southern California, has joined as membership secretary. In addition to the clerical work, Miss Smith and the membership committee, of which Mrs. J. G. Hoyt is chairman, will plan various entertainments for the general body.

Amitie, Agenda, Crescendo and Ononda Clubs are striving in a membership contest, the winner to be treated to a dinner by the losing teams. Thirty-five new members is the goal set by each organization. First reports were given at a club dinner last night.

A House Association for the purpose of fostering community interest among the girls living in the hotel, was organized last night.

Plans for the Friday night dance of the Hostess Club will be perfected at a meeting of members tonight. Mrs. J. G. Hoyt chaperoned the last entertainment.

Miss Doris Abel, president; Miss Etta Wilson and Miss Vine Loury contributed to the Sunday afternoon program at the reception at which the Amitie Club entertained in the association building.

Run Down By Motor, Boy Dies of Hurts

Elven Anderson, ten-year-old son of G. W. Anderson, a railway employee residing at 1644 Telegraph avenue, died last night from injuries he received when an automobile driven by Miss Mary Thomas, 1815 Pleasant Valley Court, struck him. The lad was taken to the Emergency Hospital by W. F. Spott, 1942 Telegraph avenue.

S. P. IS AGAINST BUILDING DEPOT

Denying the need of a new depot at Fourteenth and Franklin streets, and declaring that the business does not warrant it, the Southern Pacific company today filed with the Railroad Commission an answer to the petition of the city asking that such a depot be established. The company asks that the whole proceeding be dismissed.

After agreeing with the city attorney that 50 trains arrive daily via the Eighteenth street line and 34 via Alameda, and that there are 70 street cars daily, the railroad makes the following assertions to refute the petition for a new depot:

Passengers do not make use of the present terminal facilities in any considerable number. The present station has not been neglected but has been painted and improved several times. The present station is never crowded. There is no practical necessity for additional umbrella sheds. There is no genuine demand by the public for a new depot and the volume of traffic does not justify it. The electric lines did not earn expenses up to August 26 and the railroad cannot yet determine the effect of the recent increase of rates. The whole proposition would not at present justify the capital investment for this purpose.

Auto Which Struck Man Is Identified

The automobile which yesterday ran down and seriously injured Henry A. Wiedemann at Forty-first and Broadway and continued on its way, was found by the police to be registered under the name of F. N. Schultz of Petaluma. The authorities at Petaluma were requested to investigate the matter and it was later learned that Schultz was not in Oakland yesterday.

Mills College Notes

Dr. Alice H. Luce, the first woman to receive the degree of doctor of philosophy from the University of Heidelberg, and at present a member of the Mills College faculty, will speak at chapel tomorrow morning on "Germany, Yesterday and Today."

Life and letters of Thomas Bailey Aldrich will be discussed tomorrow by Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt in the series of popular lectures dealing with American character as shown in American biographies. The public is invited to attend the 4 o'clock talks.

Students in Orchard house will be at home tomorrow from 4:30 to 6 p. m.

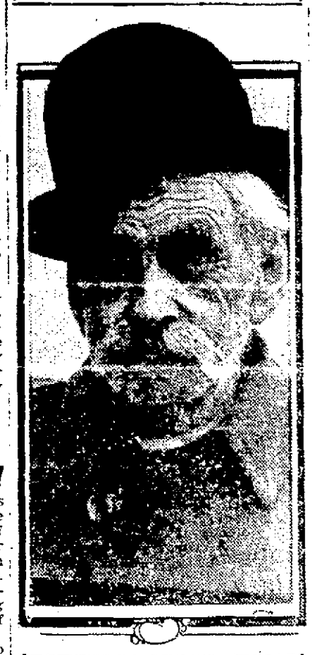

"Chile of Today" will be discussed by Professor Paul Ramirez, A. B. S. B., Chile-United States exchange professor of history at the University of California, on Friday morning in Lisser hall. Professor Ramirez comes from the University of Chile in Santiago.

Walker Through Park Is Beaten, Robbed

Seized from behind, as he was walking home last night through the Jefferson Park, Joe Sutherland, 517 Grove street, grappled with a pair of thugs until one of them hit him over the head with a piece of pipe. The blow rendered Sutherland unconscious for several minutes during which time the thugs robbed him of $70 and his watch.

According to Sutherland's story to the police, he was about half way through the park when a man stepped up to him and grasped him by the shoulder. He struck at his assailant, but missed, and at that time another man jumped onto his back from behind. The next thing he remembers was a crushing blow over the head and he fell unconscious. When he came to he was lying in the center of the path. He discovered then that his money and watch were gone.

90-Year Prisoner Held for Forgery; Has Long Record

WILLIAM SMITH.

San Jose Man Has Served Six Terms Since 1869, Files Show

SAN JOSE, Sept. 21.—A criminal record dating from January 6, 1869, when he was sentenced to San Quentin State prison from San Joaquin county for forgery, is said to have been admitted to Sheriff George Lyle by William Smith, the 90-year-old prisoner who was arrested a week ago for raising one and two dollar bills by the transference of higher numerals from Confederate currency.

Much of the record said to have been admitted by Smith precedes the establishment of identification bureaus. He states that he has served other sentences as follows:

1876—Entered San Quentin from San Joaquin county for forgery.

1880—Sentenced for same offense in Stanislaus county.

1887—Sentenced to Folsom for forgery.

1898—Sentenced to Folsom for embezzlement.

1916—Sent to McNeil's Island for counterfeiting.

1920—Now awaiting trial on charge raising U. S. currency.

BARTLETT URGES WAGE INCREASE

BERKELEY, Sept. 21.—A "living wage" for municipal employees is urged by Mayor Louis Bartlett in his annual report submitted to members of the council. That a number of employees at the Berkeley city hall are underpaid at the present time is the mayor's statement.

Following is the mayor's comment on the subject:

"We have a right to demand of our city employees ability, application, honesty and loyalty. In general, it is my opinion that the city is being well and faithfully served by those who perform her work in the various departments. In some instances the service is conspicuously meritorious. Our employees in their turn have a right to expect a fair wage.

"Salaried men and women, clerical workers and un-unionized wage-earners have been among those who suffer most at times like the present. I believe that our city employees in a number of instances are underpaid and that Berkeley should in justice to itself provide a fair wage. A public investigation of our city's salary and wage scale would undoubtedly help to arrive at an equitable conclusion. It is important that the city should deal fairly with those who do its work."

Dock and Deck

The barkentine Forest Dream, a new craft, completed her maiden voyage yesterday, arriving at Aberdeen, Wash., from Honolulu. She spoke the French bark Buffon, from Santa Rosalia for the Columbia, on September 18, who reported all well. The bark will load grain for Europe, upon her arrival, while the barkentine loads lumber for Australia.

The former submarine chaser S 295, which has seen service on the English coast during the war, was purchased by the Seattle Fisheries Association and will be converted into a halibut fishing craft to fish off the Washington and Vancouver coast. She will be known as the steamer George L. Harvey.

The hull Thomas Rolph, recently launched at Eureka, will load a cargo of lumber there, and will then tow to Oakland harbor, where she will be completed. She is the largest hull built at the Rolph shipyard at Eureka.

The Rolph tug Storm King sailed for Eureka yesterday with the British bark Bladbrook in tow, and will proceed to Astoria, after landing the bark at Eureka. She will tow a log raft to Southern California from Astoria. The Gladbrook will load redwood for Sydney at Eureka.

The United States transport Edgemoor arrived at Honolulu yesterday from New York and will proceed to this port. She will hereafter be used on the Pacific coast in the transport service between this port and Manila.

The power schooner Osprey is reported ashore on Gold beach and may be saved if the weather continues smooth. She was used to carry fish from Rogue River to Coos Bay.

The bark Star of Finland of the Alaska Packers' fleet sailed from Alitak, Alaska, on Saturday for this port with salmon and cannery employes. She will arrive here in about two weeks.

Change of masters registered at the U. S. Custom House:

Captain A. Adolphson, gas schooner President; Captain C. M. Rebholtz, gas schooner Champion.

B. M. Scott has taken over the schooner A. F. Coats from J. A. Oliver. The vessel is now on Puget Sound; price was not given.

The schooner Bangor is due to arrive here from Sydney with copra. She sailed from that port on July 30.

The steamer West Cactus left Singapore on July 19 and should reach this port in a few days.

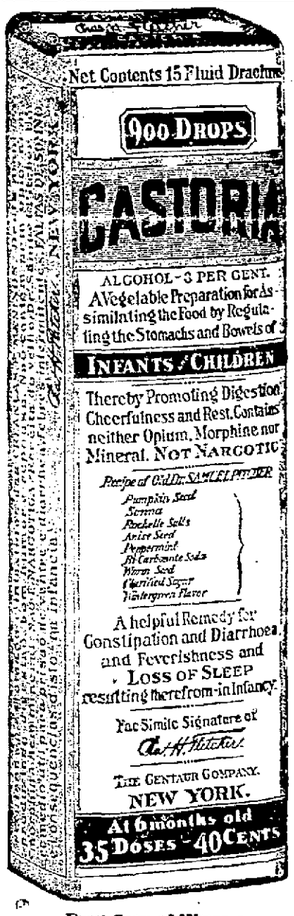

The fishing schooner Lucy, which caught afire at San Diego harbor yesterday, sank in 30 feet of water near the North Island naval air station dock.

MEAD RESIDENCE SOLD.

PETALUMA, Sept. 21.—Dr. Elwood Mead, head of the State Land Settlement Board, has sold his country home near Cloverdale to Miss E. Wing of Oakland, who is already in possession. The property is known as the Col. G. W. Prescott place and is one of the finest homes in the county. The house was built many years ago and Col. Prescott spent much of his time there.

TO CONTINUE DRIVE.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—The Interchurch World Movement has been reorganized and is solvent, Bishop Thomas Nicholson of Chicago, chairman of the committee of reorganization, has announced. More than $1,000,000 has been paid by the denominations which undertook to underwrite the original $100,000,000 campaign, Bishop Nicholson said, and pledges due will provide sufficient funds to continue the work.

The man who thinks he can't shave with a safety razor

The man who excuses his use of an old-fashioned razor on the ground that he has a tender skin and a wiry beard, often tells this to a safety razor user who has a much more difficult face to shave.

ONE of the most surprising reversals of opinion ever known in the history of shaving has suddenly come about.

In the past four months—since the introduction of the new Gillette razor, the BIG FELLOW—more men have given up the old-fashioned way of shaving for the Gillette habit than in any similar period of time heretofore.

Many of them, men who had always looked upon the safety feature of the Gillette as its only advantage and one that they did not require of a razor.

There was something about the Big Fellow, the Gillette with the longer handle and heavier head, that appealed to them the instant they saw its size and felt its weight and balance.

And the men who used to think they couldn't shave with a safety razor are making the Gillette Big Fellow their particular razor—and the fastest selling razor that has ever been placed on the market

Taking Orders for Peach Crop Halted

No more orders are being taken for peaches, fresh or dried, by the California Peach Growers' Association of this season's crop, according to a circular which has been mailed to the trade by A. J. Sturtevant Jr., sales manager for the association. Latest indications are that the crop of the association members will be 24,000 tons or 11,000 less than last season's crop of 35,000 tons.

TOBACCO RISES; REST OF MARKET UNDER PRESSURE

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—The stock market was under pressure at the outset of today's session, oils and motors accessories displaying marked weakness. Mexican Petroleum and Royal Dutch reacted two points each and Shell transport one point.

SCHOOL BOARD PLANS COURSE FOR TEACHERS

A plan for the establishment of a special course of study for persons who intend to become teachers of feeble-minded and delinquents, especially for the teachers employed at the various state homes for this class of persons, is being discussed by the State Board of Education which is holding sessions at the Hotel Oakland this week.

The plan is that of C. L. Phelps, president of the Santa Barbara State Normal school, who is attending the sessions of the board, urge its adoption and that the course be given an initial tryout at the normal school of which he is head.

It is pointed out by Phelps that at present there is no agency for special training for teachers of backward children or for the delinquents and feeble-minded in state institutions. The teachers in these schools at present are not required to hold certificates as are public school teachers. Phelps' plan provides a course of special training for these teachers which would be followed up by a law raising the standard for teachers of the feeble-minded.

Several unusually long records for continuous teaching in the state were given recognition by the State Board of Education in session at Hotel Oakland when awards of the teachers' retirement pension of $500 a year were announced.

The longest continuous teaching record in the list was that of Josephine Lemon, 1969 Myrtle street, who, the record shows, taught in the Alameda county schools for forty-four years, from 1876 to 1920.

Mrs. Ida A. Condy, now a resident of Mill Valley, who taught in schools of this county for thirty-eight years, also received a pension.

Other local teachers who were placed on the retirement list are:

Stephen B. Wilson, 2229 MacDonald avenue, Richmond, former superintendent of schools of El Dorado county; teacher for thirty-five years; Charlotte E. Wood of Danville, teacher for thirty years; Jewet C. Gilson, 1985 Bella Vista avenue; Emory Evans Grinnell, 1251 Forty-fifth avenue, and Mrs. Margaret H. Chappell, Santa Clara.

E. P. Clarke of Riverside, president of the board, called the meeting to order. Reports from State Superintendent of Public Instruction Will C. Wood, Dr. Margaret S. McNaught, commissioner of elementary schools; A. C. Olney, commissioner of secondary education, and Dr. E. S. Sauder, commissioner of vocational education.

DREDGER BACK ON OLD MARSH WORK

After four years of wandering, trying to do three or four urgent jobs at once, the municipal dredger this morning returned to its original task of filling in the West Oakland marsh, between Poplar, Bay, Twentieth and Thirty-fourth street.

Commissioner Soderberg of the department of public works was present to supervise the resumption of the old task. The first job will be to cover the garbage dump.

The municipal dredger's recent history resembles the wanderings of Ulysses. In the days of Harry Anderson the city contractor with property owners to fill in the West Oakland marsh at 10 cents per cubic yard and started burrowing behind the bulkhead line, where it made a majestic hole which will now have to be filled in again.

MARSH DESERTED

Then came the period of sudden development for the western waterfront. The Key Route basin offered sites for a big shipyard. The Union Construction Company needed deep water for its ships, so the dredge had to leave its marsh and get busy at the shipyard.

The completion of the Alameda mill made another demand on the dredge, which also deepened the water in front of this structure. Then when Fred Parr came along with his terminal project, the dredge had to deepen the Parr waters.

For four years the dredge has been building up Oakland's industries while the West Oakland marsh has been forlorn and unattended. Filling some of those gaps has become so brisk that the municipal dredger had to be aided by another dredge.

The price of 10 cents a yard will not bring a profit, according to Soderberg, but the commissioner asserts that the outlay is justified no matter considering the public health.

As soon as the land is covered the street department will clean up for streets and sewers. A street gang started preliminary work this morning.

Air Circus Will Add Zest To 91st Division Reunion

CAPTAIN E. M. DECKERT, French ace, who will fly in maneuvers for the Wild West Division Reunion at Idora, is here glimpsed with MISS GLADYS PAGE of Oakland.

Twenty-five Planes to Take Part in Idora Park Program Sunday

Wheeling planes, turned out in battle formations, and an air circus will add zest to the reunion of the 91st or Wild West Division at Idora Park Sunday.

There will be 25 planes from Rockwell Field, San Diego, in the squadron. The circus will fly from Durant field and will include such aviators as Captain Rickenbacker and Captain Deckert. Deckert, a French ace, who wears all the French decorations and who downed 15 German planes is a Durant instructor.

The reunion which will be the biggest drawing together of French service veterans yet held on the Pacific Coast and one of the biggest held in the country, will start in San Francisco Saturday.

REGISTRATION PLANS.

Registration at the Palace Hotel will be in charge of Mrs. Francis Cobb Hale of the War Camp Community Service and Red Cross girls, [illegible] go to unit reunion banquets held at a score of hotels and cafes.

Sunday morning the ferries will be loaded with the men and their friends. A reception organization headed by Colonel Bertram C. Caldwalader will have swung open Idora's gates and the reunion will turn into a playday, but with a formal service at 1 o'clock in the afternoon at which Colonel Caldwalader will speak, there will be said a silent prayer for the Division's 2000 who sleep in France and the brigade colors will dost in parade. When this is done the airmen will be overhead.

ATHLETIC CONTESTS.

More boisterous will be the swimming contests, a tug of war between men of the 181st and 182d brigades, boxing bouts refereed by Willie Richie, merry dancing and the attendant entertainments of the park.

While these go on, visitors who seek word of men who never came back or who have been lost sight to them, will find an information bureau helpful and the K. of C., Salvation Army, Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. and other army organizations will [illegible]

Through it all men of three news services will grind film cameras.

In room 206 of San Francisco's city hall can been set up an information bureau which is helping coordinate the arrangements.

CORNER CUTTING LAID TO DRIVER OF DEATH AUTO

While a coroner's jury relieved Gordon De Bruyn of all blame for the accident at Seventh and Broadway on September 18, when Mrs. Thomas Pepler was struck by his automobile, dying at the emergency hospital four hours later, he will be brought to trial before Police Judge Mortimer Smith on September 28, charged with cutting a corner.

De Bruyn appeared in court this morning and made a vigorous attempt to plead guilty to cutting a corner with the object of paying a small fine. This action was blocked by Captain of Detectives William Kyle, who was also in court with the police report in his hand. Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Fred Donahue also blocked such action and brought the matter directly to the attention of Judge Smith, who set the date for the hearing on September 28, requesting that all the witnesses who testified at the coroner's inquest be called.

TO HEAR EVIDENCE

"If this man is guilty of cutting a corner as charged, the coroner's jury should not have absolved him of all blame for Mrs. Pepler's death," said Judge Smith. "He cannot be guilty of this charge and free from all blame for the woman's death. I desire to hear all the evidence in this case before any further action is taken."

The witnesses who testified at the coroner's inquest were M. De Lauer, 817 Sixteenth street; F. B. Begley, 99 Ninth street, and H. Baker, 721 Broadway.

Mrs. Pepler was on her way to the Sixth street Free Market when De Bruyn's machine struck her. She suffered a broken leg and internal injuries which resulted in her death. It was claimed by De Bruyn at the coroner's inquest that he was driving his machine three miles per hour when the accident occurred.

POLICE DENY DE BRUYN

It is pointed out by traffic men that the car De Bruyn was driving cannot throttle down to three miles an hour. It is also pointed out that had the car been traveling at such a low rate of speed the impact would not have caused the injuries to Mrs. Pepler which resulted in her death.

Judge Smith said today that if De Bruyn is guilty of cutting a corner he is technically responsible for the woman's death, despite the decision of the coroner's jury which absolved him of all blame.

De Bruyn was not charged with cutting a corner until after the coroner's jury had rendered its verdict.

Countess' Love Notes Shown Court

Army, Navy Write of Their Passion

With the hearing of the divorce action of Lieutenant Tracy B. Kittredge, late aide to Herbert Hoover and son of a University of California professor, against Countess Olympia Scalzi-Kittredge before Superior Judge Stanley A. Smith, additional lover letters, burning with words of passion and devotion, from a number of men who were infatuated with the Lieutenant's beautiful wife, have been filed.

Judge Smith, after hearing the testimony of the husband's mother as to his residence and of a woman friend of the family in Berkeley from whom the wife is alleged to have borrowed money, has taken the case under advisement in order to permit him to peruse the depositions, affidavits and exhibits.

THEY'RE BURNING WORDS

Lieutenant Kittredge met and married his bride in London in July, 1917, while serving the American state department in various capacities following his work with Herbert Hoover on the Belgian relief commission. He accuses her of having been intimate with and of having accepted money from seven or eight men, one of whom met her when she arrived in New York and accompanied her to Chicago, where he reserved rooms for her at one of the leading hotels there. The husband had preceded her to America by a number of months. Extracts from some of the love letters filed in the case follow:

From Lieutenant E. J. Coltman of the British air service:

"Kiddie Mine: Your letters to me are perfectly beautiful. I just feel that I want to be a Rudyard Kipling to answer them and to tell you what my love for you is. Only a man with such a beautiful mind could put my thoughts of you into words. I am just bursting with love for you, child, and it is getting harder and harder to contain myself when I am with you and in the presence of other people.

SHE MADE HIM HAPPY

"Kiddie, you cannot imagine how happy you have made me. It is what I have been craving all my life. Everywhere I look I see those beautiful eyes of yours, with just that mischievous, slumbrous and full-of-fire look—little girl, they will drive me mad. I am so happy, child of my heart, I feel reborn into a new world. It is being given a new lease of life to have someone who can care as you do. I feel I could crumple up like a pack of cards from sheer ecstacy.

"My darling, I love you!—love you with the strength of a strong man. Kiddie, you are killing me, or is it my love for you which is killing me. I pray for such a death. If I could die for you, oh what an exquisite death!

"If anything should occur so that I cannot have those few blessed hours with you Saturday—God, I dare not think of it! Dearest, I love you beyond all measure. I can't write any more, dearest child, my feelings are beyond words. Yours, until and even after trodden on."

(No signature. Lieutenant Kittredge said his wife admitted it was from Lieutenant Coltman.)

From Ensign S. M. Strecker, U. S. Naval Reserve:

"Dearest One: Please don't smile or laugh at my start, for that don't begin to express my feelings for you. You really cannot imagine how I yearn for you. Every moment that keeps me away from you is years lost out of my life.

"I will see you Wednesday night and will then try and explain all to you—how I love you, not just care, as you believe, and whatever I can do to make you realize this of course is up to you. I think of you all the time. If you could only understand that my position is rather awkward because you are married. Well, dear, please try and make our feelings mutual and try and have a little faith in my sincerity and feelings toward you. Good night, with all the love that I possess. Your infant.

"S. M. STRECKER."

DEATH DELAYS RICE GROWERS' SUIT HEARING

On account of the death of Mrs. Louise Slater in San Francisco, a realtive of John S. Partridge, one of the attorneys for the town of Antioch in the suit against upper Sacramento rice growers, the case was today continued until Thursday morning.

Arguments that the granting of a permanent injunction to stop rice growers diverting water from the upper Sacramento river would be far reaching in effect and would interfere with the storage of water for all purposes, including that of the generation of power and for domestic use, will be advanced by rice men.

Not only would the agricultural interests of the state be retarded, but the Hetch-Hetchy project, the Dom Pedro dam of Modesto-Turlock irrigation district, the Pitt River project of the Pacific Gas & Electric Company and many other large enterprises would be made impossible of completion, according to Attorney Stanley S. Moore of the rice growers.

An affidavit filed by rice men for G. F. Chamberlain quoted H. J. Schumann, town trustee of Antioch, as saying that Attorney B. D. Marx Greene had attempted to "bulldoze" and "browbeat" him. Greene, it cites, employed these tactics in an effort to get an affidavit for use in this suit.

Check-Passer Gets Long Term in State's Prison

Richard Hoppe, aged 54, a piano tuner, who pleaded guilty to passing a fictitious check on the Central National Bank here for $375, was sentenced by Judge James G. Quinn in the Superior Court today to from one to fourteen years in San Quentin penitentiary.

A prior conviction on a similar charge in Los Angeles was dismissed. Hoppe, who had gone under the name of William Steinway, the piano manufacturer, signed the name of Charles Blum to a check and cashed it. When he was arrested other checks made out to Steinway were found on his person.

Everett Isaacson, a deserter from the U. S. S. Georgia, who is charged with robbing J. Mello on East Seventeenth street, March 22, and who had pleaded guilty, had his case referred to the probation officer. Isaacson is alleged to have robbed Mello of a watch and money.

Henry A. Sofield, a youth who is charged with holding 15-year-old Gertrude Williams prisoner in an East Oakland garage from July 22 to [illegible] Quinn today and pleaded not guilty. He is under $5000 bail. His trial was set for October 28.

According to the district attorney's office Sofield and the girl, after a midnight automobile drive sat on a back porch of an empty building until 1 a. m. and then, because the girl was afraid to go home, they both went to Sofield's room in a garage.

The girl declared that she committed the escapade because her parents wanted her to marry some one she did not love.

Relief Society Fund Totals Ten Thousand

Proceeds from the Ladies' Relief Society Market in City Hall Plaza totals $10,500 up to date, according to reports which were posted this morning by Mrs. George Rothganger, financial secretary. With 19 concessions still to make returns, this sum will be considerably swelled. Today's proceeds represents 20 of the 39 market stalls. Expenses of the big downtown market were approximately $1500.

The complete returns from the open air benefit a year ago were $8200.

Sutter Rancher Dies Of Gunshot Wound

MARYSVILLE, Sept. 21.—James O'Connor, wealthy Sutter county rancher, died today of a gunshot wound inflicted Sunday by Reuben Davis, Marysville negro.

District Attorney Ray Manwell asserted he will place a charge of murder against Davis today. The negro declared he shot down O'Connor in self-defense when the latter attacked him with a knife. This was denied by O'Connor, however, in a statement just before he died.

STUDENT CRUSHES HAND.

BERKELEY, Sept. 21.—M. Abbott, student at the Berkeley High School, crushed two of his fingers in the printing press at the school today. He was taken to Roosevelt Hospital and later to his home at 3200 Ellis street.

MOVE TO LOWER NUMBER OF AUTO MISHAPS BEGUN

Inaugurating a new movement to result in a decreased number of automobile accidents the Oakland Advertising Club and the Alameda County Automobile Trade Association sponsored a luncheon at Hotel Oakland today.

Memberships of the clubs augmented by city and county officials and by a large number of invited guests heard David Van Schaack of New York, known as one of the best informed men in the country on this subject, tell of means to discourage the reckless driver and to inculcate the principles of "safety first" in the minds of all automobile users. Statistics showing the increase in automobile accidents and the necessity for recognizing them as representative of a modern problem were read by the speaker.

KIWANIS HEAR TITUS.

Kiwanis Club luncheers at the Hotel Oakland this noon listened to Charles G. Titus, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Illustrating his words with motion pictures, he spoke of the association in industry. Glenn Woods, who is director of singing in the Oakland schools, roused the members into lively choruses.

JAPANESE SAIL FROM AMERICA, EVIDENCE ALARM

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 21.—Departure of 250 Japanese, mostly women and children, who sailed for Japan on the Canada Maru last night, was today declared by shipping authorities to be evidence of alarm felt by local Japanese over the trend of relations between Japan and the United States.

Numbers of the Japanese announced they were leaving the country because of the anti-Japanese sentiment here, steamship officers said.

Pastor Arrested on Charges of Fraud

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 21.—Charged with fraud and [illegible] engineering schemes netting him $20,000 in the last six months, the Rev. R. E. Jenkinson, 24, was being held here today pending investigation.

Jenkinson, a recently ordained minister and said to be the fiance of a prominent Denver society girl, sold worthless stock to hundreds of persons in this state and Nebraska, officers claimed. He is being held for Omaha, Neb., police, it was said.

Six weeks ago Jenkinson married Miss Virginia Tratton of Havelock, Neb.

The prisoner was also being held on the charge of passing a bad check for $500, it was said.

Connecticut Senate Ratifies Suffrage

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 21.—The Connecticut senate again today ratified the federal women suffrage amendment. This action was taken because the legality of the first vote of ratification at a special session last week was questioned.

STORIES OF '61 RECOUNTED BY G. A. R. MEMBERS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 21.—Friendships were to be renewed and stories of the days when they battled for the Union recounted as the principal activities today of the 1920 encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, which formally opened here yesterday. Eighty regimental and brigade reunions were set for today and tonight the annual camp fire will be held.

The organization at the business session Thursday will be asked to increase the per capita tax from 3½ cents, at which figure it had been for 30 years to ten cents a year. The membership of 295,000 in 1890 has dwindled to 168,290, Commander Daniel Hall said.

Among the notables attending the encampment are Dr. Robert T. Harding of Marion O., father of Senator Harding, Republican presidential nominee and Lieutenant Governor P. A. Barrows of Nebraska.

TO TRY OREGON FUGITIVES.

PENDLETON, Ore., Sept. 21.—Irvin N. Stoop and Floyd Henderson will go on trial here Monday, September 27, for first degree murder. They are two of the five prisoners who escaped from the Umatilla county jail here July 25, following the fatal shooting of Sheriff Til Taylor by Emmett Bancroft, alias Neil Hart.

Five Things Happen
When you brush teeth in this way

All statements approved by authorities

Dental science has produced a new teeth-cleaning method. Millions of people have already adopted it. Leading dentists everywhere advise it.

In effective ways it combats the film on teeth. And it deals with this tooth wrecker as was never done before.

The fight on film

Modern dentistry finds that most tooth troubles are caused by film. The film at first is viscous. You can feel it now. But it clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays.

It is the film-coat that discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acids. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Very few people have escaped these film-caused troubles.

Ordinary methods do not end this film. So millions who brush teeth daily find they still discolor and decay.

A multiple attack

Now new ways have been found to fight film. Careful tests have proved them. High dental authorities approve them.

They are all combined in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. It meets every modern requirement. And this new tooth paste is fast coming into world-wide use.

You'll know in a week

Some results of Pepsodent appear rapidly. Within one week the good effects will be amazing to you.

One ingredient is pepsin. One multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva, to digest starch deposits that cling. One multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva to neutralize mouth acids.

Two factors directly attack the films. One of them keeps the teeth so highly polished that film cannot easily cling. In all these ways it brings and maintains whiter, safer teeth.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how the teeth whiten as the film-coat disappears.

Compare the results with your old methods. Then let those evident results tell you what is best. Cut out the coupon now.
